Tito Will Remember

In 1918 a new country was "made" out of long-tortured geographical areas. It was christened "the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes." Later, this name was changed to Yugoslavia — land of the South Slavs.

A polite, scheming, bargaining Soviet delegation now is in Belgrade, the ancient, unpretentious capital.

A short time ago Pravda was publishing attacks on Yugoslavia and its dictator Tito. Among the milder epithets applied to Tito was that he was a "running dog for the Western Imperialists." Today, Pravda is emphasizing that Yugoslavia, too, is a Communist country in which there are but peasants and workers. The nation has no capitalist class, says Pravda; therefore, the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia have the same ideology and must work together.

Dictator Tito makes no direct reply. He is not a forgetful man.

The Russians have sent Nikita Khrushchev, who is head of the Communist Party, and Premier Nikolai Bulganin to Belgrade. It is very likely that these two, acting according to plan, will use the meeting with Tito as an opportunity for sending up trial balloons in advance of the Big Four meeting.

Heresy

Tito is merely another bizarre and contradictory figure in a long line of such persons emerging from the history of what today is called Yugoslavia. He is an old-time Communist. For most of his life he was a Russian product, trained in Moscow and greatly honored by Stalin and his associates. Beginning with Marx and written deeply into Communist doctrine by Lenin, is the basic Communist law; namely, there can be no Nationalist competition between Communist governments. In 1948 Tito quite literally stunned the Kremlin by declaring himself independent of Soviet direction.

Since that time he has managed to avoid assassination, and apparently maintained a loyal army and people. That now the Communist government which succeeded Stalin should be coming to him with its hat in hand is an absorbing aspect of today's complex maneuverings on the international front.

Yugoslavia undoubtedly will be offered various forms of trade by Russia. Without question, she will take what she feels most will benefit her. Tito is no stranger to Soviet methods.

Yugoslavia

Major provinces of Yugoslavia are names almost synonymous with violence. Serbia has produced probably the hardiest people in Europe. They always have been great soldiers. They have borne centuries of persecution without losing their culture or nationalist fervor.

Macedonia, Slovenia, Croatia Slovenia and Montenegro are names written in blood and history. It was on a bridge in Sarajevo in June of 1914 that a grand duke was assassinated, to blow the world into the first great war.

The Croats and the Serbs historically are the same family.

The Croats and Slovenes lived under Austrian and Hungarian rule.

The Serbs lived for half a millennium under the most cruel, corrupt and brutal of Turkish despots.

The Croats and the Slovenes had considerable educational facilities. The Turks attempted to crush out the Serb language. The Croats and the Slovenes became complete and enthusiastic collaborators. Many of them attained high political and military position. The Serbs ruthlessly were reduced to serfdom.

When the second great war came it was, in general, Serbs who stood staunchly, even foolhardily, against the Nazis. The Croats advanced a policy of appeasement.

The Germans and their allies were without mercy. They destroyed cities, they looted, raped, burned and left wounds which will never heal.

It was typical of the area that it should have produced two guerrilla leaders, Mihailovich and Tito. Mihailovich was a tragedy. Tito survived as the winner. What now is called Yugoslavia always has been one of history's keys. That is why the Russians are there today—seeking a bargain.

Van Runs Wild for 5 Blocks, Kills 7 in Exploding Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27 (AP)—A big interstate moving van ran five wild blocks through the heart of San Francisco today, killing seven persons and injuring three as it crashed and exploded on the sidewalk near the Hall of Justice.

PATH OF RUNAWAY VAN DOWN HILL

Arrow Points To Pile Of Wrecked Cars and Truck

Its brakes gone, the huge yellow Mayflower truck and trailer roared down the steep side of Nob Hill on Clay street at an estimated 80 miles an hour.

It ran miraculously clear for blocks. All the death and damage came in the final block.

It scraped a half block of store fronts and wrecked a dozen automobiles. At least eight, including three police cars, were smashed into junk. Street signs, lights and poles toppled in crazy confusion.

Pedestrians along the sidewalk scattered like startled quail, but some could not escape.

TANK EXPLODES

The unlucky were crushed beneath the wreckage and splashed with flaming gasoline from the shattering explosion of the truck's fuel tank.

Flames shot an estimated 50 feet high. Shattered windows showered the entire area.

One man's body burned on the sidewalk as rescuers tried to edge near.

One of the dead was the van driver, identified as William Russell McCandless, Davenport, Ia.

Another was police patrolman Henry Eidler.

The others were identified as Barbara S. Scrabronion, Peter E. Fadeff and Chew Shong, all of San Francisco; Daniel Cope Stone of Burlingame, Calif., and William L. Ahuna, 34, of San Francisco.

3 INJURED

Two San Francisco women suffered broken legs and a third a possible broken back.

The co-driver, Wayne D. Wolfe of Littleton, Colo., saved himself by leaping from the cab in the second block. He said the big rig's brakes failed just after it started downhill on the narrow one-way street.

McCandless said, "My brakes—

Disarming Plan Urged By Adenauer

BONN, Germany, May 27 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called on the United States today to submit a new, global disarmament plan to the Big Four conference this summer.

He spoke in a lower house debate that wound up with rejection of a Socialist proposal to postpone arming of West Germany as the newest member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The vote, 244-145, endorsed Adenauer's policy of putting German armed forces in the West's defense lines.

The chancellor said however, that world disarmament must be the primary and decisive issue when President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin hold their "meeting at the summit."

The United States, as the world's strongest power, "can and should make certain that disarmament is being given serious consideration and intensively and effectively advanced," the 77-year old German leader said.

"The time for disarmament was never better."

5 Killed as Car Flips Into Truck Near Jesup

Five persons were killed in a head-on collision 14 miles south of Jesup around noon Friday.

Two other fatalities brought the day's toll to seven before the long Memorial Day weekend began.

The Jesup collision involved a dairy truck from Waycross and an automobile from Winter Haven, Fla.

The State Patrol identified the dead in the Jesup wreck as William J. Bowman, 31, and Russell Hubbard, 18, both of Waycross; John William Janssen, 66; his wife, Mrs. Corrie Dodson Janssen, 61, and Mrs. Helen B. West, 68, all of Winter Haven.

Patrol Lt. B. P. McKinnon and Trooper D. W. Murphy gave this version of the collision:

Orson Charles Morgan of Riviera Beach, Fla., was driving north on U.S. 301 about 14 miles south of Jesup when he pulled into a side road.

The Morgan car stopped clear of the highway except for the rear bumper which projected partially over the pavement.

TOSSED INTO PATH

The Winter Haven car, traveling close behind, struck the bumper of the Morgan car and was tossed across into the left lane where it collided with the dairy truck which was going south.

The patrolman said Morgan was not injured.

A collision involving two cars at the intersection of Georgia 55 and 41 at Weston at 5:50 a.m. Friday took the life of David Ross Jones, 65, of Weston.

The State Patrol reported that the Jones car was crossing Highway 55 and was hit by another car going south.

SMASHES INTO STORE

A 9 a.m. wreck near Dawsonville in north Georgia killed Wayne Gee of the Lumpkin Campground community in Dawson County, and injured Jim Phillips and Jerry Goswick.

The State Patrol said the driver of the car apparently lost control on a curve and smashed into J. C. Jetts' grocery store and filling station. The store front was shattered.

5 Airmen Share $7,663 Jackpot For Reenlisting

Give Uncle Sam another six years and line your pockets.

That's what happened when five Robins Air Force Base airmen and a Ft. Benning soldier reenlisted this week.

The Robins Air Force quintet, with a combined service of over 34 years, reenlisted for a period of six years and drew bonuses totaling $7,663.19.

The Ft. Benning soldier, Sgt. Talmadge L. Turner of Haldem, Ky., drew $945 as the 1,000th soldier to be reenlisted at the Infantry Center since January.

The five at Robins Air Force Base are: Airman First Class Robert J. Rupin, Airman Third Class Dave Johnson Jr., S. Sgt. William R. Ford, S. Sgt. Leonard D. Baker and T. Sgt. Andrew F. Tutz.

Bonuses are offered to retain the skills of highly trained technicians.

Benning Officer Found Dead; Suspect Murder

TALBOTTON, May 27 (AP)—The battered body of a 29-year-old Ft. Benning Army officer was found alongside a railroad track in Talbotton today, and an air of mystery surrounded his death.

He was identified as Capt. William Larrabee, an instructor in the Weapons Department of Ft. Benning's Infantry School. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine M. Larrabee, Augusta, Me.

The body was taken to Ft. Benning for an autopsy.

Talbotton Police Chief D. C. Starling said civilian investigators had not determined the cause of death.

The body, clad in brown-checked trousers and a white dress shirt, was seen by an engineer of a southbound Atlantic Coast Line freight about 6 a.m. today. It was about four feet from the track.

Mystery was injected, Starling said, when authorities found an abandoned, wrecked automobile Wednesday night at Geneva, seven miles from Talbotton. There were bloodstains on the front seat of the car. Starling said the car apparently was owned by the dead Army officer.

ACL Agent L. R. Miner said Larrabee apparently had not been hit or run over by a train, as there was no blood in the area where the body was found.

Ft. Benning officials said Larrabee had not been seen at the post for several days.

April Hiring Tops Separation Tally

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 27—April marked the fourth consecutive month in which the number of factory workers hired exceeded the number who left the payrolls. The Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor, reported these findings today.

The factory hiring rate, at 34 per 1,000 in April, was down 2 per 1,000 over this month. This is about the average decline for this time of year. Layoffs, at 13 per 1,000, were unchanged from March to April, in keeping with the usual pattern of little change between these months.

House Eyes U.S. Plane Plant Profit

Committee Review Of Contracts Set

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee has started an investigation of 11 major aircraft manufacturers to determine if they are making excessive profits on multi-billion dollar government contracts, it was learned today.

Subcommittee investigators have begun a check of company books, touching off what qualified informants said would be the most sweeping review of aircraft contracts in at least three years.

The purpose is to determine whether profits are too large or whether there is any hidden profit in funds paid for production costs. Standard aircraft contracts are on a cost-plus-fixed-fee basis.

The informants added that the investigation would cover all major manufacturers holding current contracts for military combat and transport planes. Contracts for developing guided missiles, held also by leading aircraft companies, are not involved.

NO COMPLAINTS

The probe, it was learned, was not prompted by specific complaints. It was undertaken primarily because of the size of aircraft production, a field normally watched by this subcommittee.

It coincides with demands for stepped-up jet bomber production, as the result of the debate over the relative strength of American and Soviet airpower. Aircraft stocks have been fluctuating sharply in recent weeks.

The informants said the government normally reviews aircraft contracts after their completion by renegotiating original terms. The pupose is to determine whether profits were too large.

POINTS STUDIED

The current investigation, the sources said, seeks to determine whether:

1. The basic charges on which the profit is computed, were set too high.

2. Funds earmarked as expenses have been diverted to accounts that could mean an additional profit for the company.

3. Individual companies are getting undue advantage from the varying profit percentages, and possibly other differences, between contracts.

The informants said contracts with these 11 major companies are primarily under scrutiny but the probe might include other manufacturers:

Douglas Aircraft Co., Lockheed Aircraft Co., Boeing Airplane Co., Glenn L. Martin Co., Curtiss-Wright Corp., Fairchild Aircraft Division of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Republic Aviation, North American Aviation, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft, Grumman Aircraft Corp., General Dynamics Co. Convair.

Symington Fears Red Air Power Better Than U.S.

SEA ISLAND, May 27 (AP)—Senator Symington (D-Mo) said today he believes the Russian air force is superior to the United States in two categories, equal in one and behind in a fourth.

Continuing to voice concern at this country's relative military strength he made the subject the major part of an address to the South Carolina Textile Manufacturing Assn.

The former air secretary in the Truman administration did not spell out the categories in which he believes the United States trails, but he mentioned that the Reds now have thousands of MIG 17s, an advanced jet fighter.

Jury Sticks To Its Guns On Schools

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

The Fulton Grand Jury Friday held to its stand that city and county schools have adequate means at their disposal to raise needed revenue without increasing 1956 property tax assessments.

Jury Foreman William S. Howland said the jury "took no action to change or modify" its special presentment issued Tuesday.

He made the statement after the jury heard views on the tax program from County School Supt. Paul D. West and members of the County Board of Education, and from Mayor Hartsfield.

The foreman said West presented a statement of the school board's view of taxation and assessments and how they would be reflected in the system's financial structure. He said the mayor offered some constructive suggestion on the solution of the schools' finance problems.

Howland also explained that C. Baxter Jones Jr., attorney for the county school board, told the jury he intended no offense or reflection on the jury's integrity by his comment that the jury had been listening to some "propaganda" from the mayor.

The foreman said the jury accepted the statement "in the light which it was given." Hartsfield was invited to appear before the jury after Jones' statement.

Howland pointed out the current tax problems are being studied by a special jury tax committee. The grand jury will probably have some constructive recommen-

Eden Pledges He'll Get on With the Job

LONDON, May 27 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden, returned to Britain's helm with a tripled majority in the House of Commons, praised his Conservative party workers today and pledged to "Get on with the job." The job is a quest for lasting peace and more prosperity.

To crushed Laborites, the verdict at the polls looked like proof that they need to end their intraparty feuding and, to some, that the party should move farther to the left. Left-winger Aneurin Bevan's bid for control of the party seemed bolstered.

The electorate spurned Labor's offer of more socialism and a bigger dose of nationalization. Stock market prices soared. The returns toughened the British-American alliance and strengthened Eden's hand for the coming meeting of the Big Four.

"It seems that this country has said to us 'Get on with the job,'" Eden told a gathering of party workers at the Conservatives' cental headquarters. Smiling and immaculate in a blue lounge suit, he said "We will do everything in our power to fulfill the trust of the country.

"The results show that the younger people felt there was a

Marion Folsom

Georgian In Line for Hobby Post

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Marion B. Folsom, Georgia-born undersecretary of the Treasury and former Eastman Kodak Co. official, was reported today in line to succeed Oveta Culp Hobby as secretary of health, education and welfare.

An informed source said Folsom is "virtually certain" to be named in the near future.

President Eisenhower told a recent news conference Mrs. Hobby, only woman in his Cabinet and the first person to head the new government department, has told him she might have to step out because of the serious illness of her husband, former Texas Gov. William P. Hobby. He is 77.

There have been reports Mrs. Hobby, who returned last night from a visit to her husband in Houston, has continued to serve as welfare department head in recent weeks only because she wanted the polio vaccination program rolling smoothly before he left.

The President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said today Mrs. Hobby has not submitted her resignation and "there is nothing before us" to indicate Folsom has been picked to succeed her.

Folsom, 61, born at McRae, Ga., would be taking over administration of laws he had much to do with making. Folsom served on the presidential commission of 1933 that hammered out the original social security laws.

Distrust Aim; Scorn Glib Slap at Beria

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 27—The Soviet-Yugoslav friendship negotiations got off to a cool start today. They are designed to make up for past differences and, if possible, to establish an understanding on international questions.

As the two delegations, headed by Nikita S. Khrushchev, Soviet Communist Party chief, and Yugoslav President Tito, took their places in their first session, the delegation chiefs barely nodded to each other.

This was reported by Yugoslavs present when the meeting opened in the officers' club of Tito's guards division in a suburb of Belgrade.

TITO "ANGRY"

The Yugoslavs added that Marshal Tito was angry with his Russian visitors. It was authoritatively stated Tito did not like Khrushchev's public appeal to him yesterday to return to the fold of international communism.

Yugoslav authorities said this appeal was not in accordance with their idea of what the current negotiations were to be. They said they intend to complain to the Russians during the conference. Yugoslav authorities said they will insist negotiations be held on governmental level and not be mixed up with Soviet ideological propaganda.

A communique indicated that the opening sessions were general and did not convey any of the specific economic problems understood to be an important part of the negotiations.

SCORN EXPLANATION

As for the Yugoslavs' reaction to Khrushchev's extraordinary speech yesterday, they were full of scorn for his explanation that Beria and Abukomov were responsible for the Soviet Union's enmity toward Yugoslavia.

"To say Beria and Abukomov were responsible for the Cominform resolution and the attitude of the Soviet Union toward us in 1948 is to create a phony detective story," said one Yugoslav official. "That's simply not history."

Yugoslavs admitted that the Soviet had "made quite a show," as one official put it.

WHAT IS THEIR AIM?

"They are trying to embarrass us with their talk of Communist brotherhood," said this official, "but it is hard to see what they hope to get out of it.

"We are determined to keep these negotiations on a concrete governmental and economic level. We want to know how far they can go in the field of trade, in the field of making up for the difficulties caused by the Cominform economic blockade, and in the field of certain discrimination against us.

"They asked for this conference and now they will have to show their hand. And if they show at the same time what their intentions are in the field of international relations, so much the better."

GEA Chief Questions Local Help For Schools Under Tax Program

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The president of the Georgia Education Assn. Friday questioned whether local governments will put up the additional school money required in the proposed state tax program.

The plan, suggested by the State Programs Study Committee, would demand a greater percentage of local support for schools as the state increases its allocations.

GEA President Henry Shaw of Columbus, asked local school superintendents over the state to apply the proposed formula for distributing money to their own communities. Then, he said, the superintendents should advise their legislators how the plan would affect their counties and cities. Shaw said the GEA has taken no action on the proposal.

The GEA chief was happy over the amount of new funds anticipated by the State Programs Study Committee for the educational program.

"If the program is put into effect, it should attract and hold good teachers," Shaw said.

The GEA is for an adequate educational program, whether it is financed by the state or the local governments or by both, Shaw declared.

The study committee's program would dig deeper into local funds than the Adequate Foundation Program outlined by school leaders, Shaw pointed out.

The program suggested by the school leaders proposed that the state increase its school allotment by 75 per cent and that local governments increase their support by 35 per cent. Shaw said the study committee almost reversed this proposal.

In seeeking new funds for schools, the study committee would have the state change the Minimum Foundation Program law so as to tie up local school funds and get more money locally for schools.

The study committee would force local property to be assessed at 50 per cent of the market value for school purposes. It would tie the entire 15-mill local tax into the

Tory Win Expected To Keep Harmony in Foreign Affairs

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 27—The Eisenhower administration and congressional leaders were elated today at the results of the British election.

A prolonged period of relatively stable and mutually sympathetic relations in Allied foreign policy was generally foreseen here.

The State Department would not comment officially, lest it appear to intrude into domestic British affairs.

It was acknowledged, nevertheless, that administration officials were greatly pleased that the conservative British government of Sir Anthony Eden had been so decisively returned.

Men in the State Department, no less than in the Senate and House of Representatives, had feared that a Laborite victory might have caused temporary upsets in the transatlantic alliance and possibly actual friction over Far Eastern policy.

PEOPLE SHOULD CHOOSE

The Senate Democratic leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, typified much congressional comment.

"Of course," he said in a statement, "I would not want to get deeply into the British elections because the people themselves have the right to choose their own government.

"Nevertheless, it is extremely fortunate in our relationships with our allies that men in the party so overwhelmingly approved by the British people are men who have been working as our close allies and friends for the last several years and are men we understand and respect.

"We will be able to enter a Big Four conference with Sir Anthony Eden and others who have demonstrated understanding and sympathy for our general objectives."

STABILITY HELPFUL

The Republican Senate leader, William F. Knowland of California, observed:

"The political stability resulting from the elections will be helpful to us in facing the foreign policy decisions that will have to be made."

Senator George (D-Ga), the chief Democratic foreign policy spokesman, said the Eden government was "more in harmony" with the United States than might have been a Labor government.

"The election," said Senator George, "is indicative of a conservative turn of events in Europe. It will result in more stabilized conditions in Europe. And the victory will put the Conservatives in a better position at the forthcoming Big Four meeting."

Cash, Work Flood Town Storm Hit

UDALL, Kan., May 27 (AP)—Public and private purses opened generously and strangers worked overtime today to restore life to this tornado-destroyed town.

Victim of the worst storm disaster in Kansas history, Udall was left with only one habitable structure—a small residence. Already 73 dead and more than 200 injured had been counted out of a population of 500. An estimated 50 were missing.

The casualties were part of the 114 killed and more than 700 injured in a series of vicious twisters that ripped through Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri Wednesday night and Thursday. Property damage in the midcontinent area was estimated in the millions.

U.S. FUNDS GRANTED

President Eisenhower, responding to an appeal from Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, today authorized the Civil Defense Administration to use whatever funds are necessary to aid the state's stricken.

In Blackwell, Okla., where 18 were killed and 500 injured by a tornado that immediately preceded the Udall disaster, most relief work was undertaken by that city's own citizens. It is a much larger community than Udall.

New trouble for Blackwell, however, came today from the flooding Chikaskia River that loops the city north and east. It was in the northeast section that the tornado struck. The river crested at 25½ feet, 3½ feet above flood stage, blocking highways in the stricken area and forcing evacuation of 15 lowland families.

The full extent of Udall's destruction was measured by Ward Stuber, Winfield, Kan., Red Cross Disaster Committee chairman. He reported 170 homes completely wrecked, 18 so damaged they are not livable and will have to be razed, and only one relatively unscathed. Only three business and public buildings were not leveled and these three are unusable.

New, Safe-Tested Shots Race Polio Season Peak

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The government cleared the way today for a fresh start in polio vaccinations—with new, extra-sensitive safety tests. But chances were dim that all children 1 to 9 could get their Salk vaccine shots before the peak of this year's polio season.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele announced vaccine would start flowing from the laboratories "in a very short time" under tight new safety standards established by the government and finally accepted by all the manufacturers.

Secretary of Welfare Hobby called the agreement a heartening "ray of sunshine." She also took occasion to deny categorically a rumor of high level political intervention on behalf of one vaccine manufacturer whose product has been withdrawn from circulation temporarily.

Mrs. Hobby and Scheele appeared before the House Commerce Committee as the number of confirmed polio cases among persons receiving Salk vaccine jumped to 111—an overnight increase of 17. Thirteen of the new cases were nonparalytic.

Today's Public Health Service report listed the first cases—two nonparalytic ones, both in Nebraska—among persons inoculated with vaccine made by Pitman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind.

Some six million persons have been inoculated since the program, at a virtual standstill for three weeks while the government rechecked safety procedures, was started in mid-April.

Scheele described himself as "very optimistic now" about the program's future. He said he hoped to announce in a day or so when the first vaccine produced with the new safety tests will be released. And he said inoculation of first and second graders then will "go forward rapidly."

Scheele and Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the vaccine, both said it will not be necessary for children who have received their first shot to start all over before getting the second and third shots.

The surgeon general told the House group: "Regrettable as it may be, injections will not go ahead as rapidly as we all had hoped. We will go ahead only as fast as safety will permit. It is unlikely that the mass program will be fulfilled on its original schedule."

The free inoculation program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis called for inoculation of all first and second graders before the mid-summer peak of the polio season.

they're gone! Do something!" Wolfe related between sobs.

But Wolfe was used to a different type of truck. He had come in from Seattle and volunteered to help his friend deliver a load of furniture. He could not find the emergency brake immediately. He said the driver pulled a handbrake but it operated only the trailer brakes. The tractor part of the rig rolled free, with the trailer lashing behind like the tail of a dragon

"That would be between Jones and Taylor streets," said Wolfe. "In the next block he (McCandless) hollered, 'Jump!' I opened the door and jumped. We were going fast enough then that when I landed on my feet I bounced up on top of a car. I watched the truck run 2½ blocks more. Then it went out of sight.

"I saw a big ball of flame and smoke."

Another witness, Harold Smythe, who was at a safe distance, estimated the final speed at "80 to 100 miles an hour."

Jury Urges Closing Sex Deviate Spots

The Fulton Grand Jury Friday asked Atlanta police to close establishments known as meeting places for sexual deviates.

In a special presentment the jury said Police Chief Herbert Jenkins had given notice of hearings on the revocation of beverage licenses under which some such establishments are operating.

The jury urged the Atlanta Police Committee to revoke the licenses of such establishments and to take steps necessary to insure that "these places are not reopened under other licenses as a mere subterfuge for continuing any practices" detrimental to the community's morals.

The jury said Jenkins and Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb recommended closure of such places after the jury had been told of the existence of these establishments by the foreman of the previous grand jury.

The presentment commended Webb and Jenkins for their prompt action in the matter and urged that they continue to investigate and "eliminate all such establishments having the reputation of being the meeting places of sex percerts."

None of the establishments was named by the jury.

dations on the controversial question in its final presentments, he added.

Cone Maddox Jr. is chairman of the committee. Other members are Bill C. Wainwright, R. W. Underwood, Earl F. Alcorn and Allen R. Fonda.

As the jury prepared to continue its study on the tax assessing question for 1956, a legal attack was being made on 1955 taxes in the City of East Point.

It came in the form of an injunction filed Friday in Fulton Superior Court, attacking the constitutionality of the law establishing the Joint City-County Board of Tax Assessors and seeking to enjoin tax officials from using increased assessments in East Point.

The injunction was filed in the name of Mrs. Elnyr M. Roberts of 2631 Headland Dr., East Point. She is the wife of Mayor A. A. Roberts.

The petition claims the Board of Assessors has notified Mrs. Roberts that the assessment on her six-room brick home was being raised from $2,900 to $4,560. It seeks to enjoin Tax Commissioner T. E. Suttles from collecting taxes based on the higher assessments.

The constitutional attack on the assessing board claims the law by which it was established is illegal because it violates the State Constitution's provisions for equal protection under the laws.

Asks Old-Age Aid for Wives, Widows at 60

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) introduced a bill today to reduce from 65 to 60 years the age at which wives and widows may qualify for old age and survivors benefits.

Potter's move gave him a jump on House Democratic leaders who had planned to bring up the same general sort of proposal in June.

"Statistics have shown that in this country a man generally marries a woman several years younger than himself," Potter told the Senate. "The present act, however, does not conform with this finding.

"Under existing law, a wife must wait until she, too, is 65 before she can collect her Social Security benefits. Until that time she must live on the small benefits her husband receives."

Also, he said, the widow of a wage earner must wait until she is 65 to collect benefits.

Potter cited figures indicating that 90 per cent of the widows of workers are in need of old age and survivors benefits.

15 Indians Begin Farm-Factory Tour of Soviet

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 27—Fifteen Indian government officials will leave New Delhi Tuesday for Moscow to study Soviet industry and agriculture. The Indians are the first to take advantage of a three-year-old Soviet offer to supply technical help through the United Nations.

The visitors will spend a month touring the country. All hold senior governmental posts in branches of mining engineering, civil aviation and water resources.

The 15 visitors are to travel to Moscow via Kabul, Afghanistan. Among the places they will visit are Aberbaidjan, Tashkent and Balkash, all areas which in the past have been closed to foreign visitors.

Erle Cocke Jr. Plans Marriage

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Erle Cocke Jr., past national commander of the American Legion, and Miss Madelyn Alice Grotnes of suburban Park Bridge obtained a marriage license today at the Cook County clerk's office.

Cocke of Dawson, Ga., is a vice president of Delta Air Lines. The couple will be married tomorrow in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Park Ridge. The wedding party will include Gov. George M. Craig of Indiana and Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee.

French Try Curfew In Africa Disorders

PARIS, May 27 (AP)—French police tonight clamped a curfew throughout the central African colony of Cameroun after five days of disorder which claimed nine lives.

Some 80 persons were wounded and many others sent to jail, according to reports reaching Paris.

The reports told of demonstrations, and clashes between angry Africans and French police, in several parts of the colony at the eastern end of the south coast of the west African bulge.

The cause of the disorders was not clear.

NEW MILITARY DRAIN

Coupled with renewed agitation in North Africa, the disorders in central Africa meant a new drain on French armed strength to replace previous losses on the battlefields of Indochina.

Nationalist bands still were roaming the Algerian mountains and terrorists were striking in the cities of Algeria and Morocco.

In Cameroun, outbreaks were reported in Douala, port town of some 100,000, in Younde, the capital, and at Loum, Ngonksamba, Bafoussam, Foumban, and Edea.

The disorders began Sunday in Douala when demonstrators attached to the Communist-dominated Cameroun Peoples Union attacked a police post held by French and African guards.

One of the African guards died of injuries.

This was followed by a clash Monday evening in Douala between UPC members and police. The officers arrested many demonstrators.

PROVOKES ANOTHER

This provoked a new clash Tuesday when armed demonstrators attacked several police posts in the African quarter of Douala, and attempted to seize a prison in the same quarter, evidently to liberate UPC prisoners.

Police opened fire on the crowd, killing four and wounding 20 others. One of the policemen, a gendarmerie captain was struck by rifle fire.

Throughout the city, bands of Africans attacked motor cars occupied by Europeans, burning 16 of the cars. The Africans assaulted European occupants of the cars with hatchets and clubs. Many Europeans were wounded, and one died of his injuries in Douala hospital.

ORDER RESTORED

Wednesday the disorders spread to Ngonksamba, where French troops fired on demonstrators, but in Douala, where troops and police patrolled day and night—armed with submachine guns order was reestablished.

At Yaounde, a quarrel between shopkeepers ballooned into a clash early Friday between gendarmes and several hundred members of the Bamileke tribe near the African Market.

On the outskirts of Yaounde, 1,000 tribesmen clashed with police when they attempted to break through a roadblock near the hospital. Three leaders of the demonstration were killed and about 40 others wounded.

GEA's Show Doubts Aid in Tax Effort

state school program. If the local schools wanted to add "frills," they would have to increase their levy beyond the 15-mill rate.

The State Board of Education this week hailed the expanded funds proposed for schools, but objected to changes in the Minimum Foundation Program law at this time.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., member of the study committee which insisted on more local support for education, said even under the proposed plan the state still would have to pay 70 per cent of the cost of educating children.

Opposition to a tax increase came Friday from Georgia brewers.

The study committee recommended that the tax on beer be increased from the present two cents a can to four cents.

William Tuby, director of the Georgia division of the U.S. Brewers Foundation, said this would make Georgia's tax the highest in the nation. He said it would mean higher prices to the public and a lower sales volume, resulting in lower employment.

400-Pounder Tax Debt Set At $2 Million

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—William G. "Big Bill" Lias, 400-pound Wheeling, W. Va., race track operator, owes more than two million dollars in back income taxes and penalties, a U.S. tax court judge held today.

Judge Clarence P. LeMire fixed $2,012,222 as the amount of taxes and penalties the one-time professional gambler and bootlegger owes for 1942 through 1948. He is liable also, under the ruling, for certain interest charges.

Lias' attorney, Charles J. Margiotti, said in Pittsburgh that the decision is "unfair" and will be fought through the courts. He added:

"They took the net income of the entire Lias family and put it all in one and charged it to Lias himself. This is definitely wrong."

national job to be done. And they were not in sympathy with the class hatred which some people fall back on when they are not agreed on policy."

With results in from all but two of the 630 election districts, the Conservatives had an over-all majority of 59 in the new House of Commons—enough to ensure five safe years of rule. When the old House was dissolved last month, the Tory majority stood at only 17.

Not in 90 years had the party in power been able to increase its majority in a parliamentary election. The landslide also smashed an old political legend that Conservatives cannot win in the spring.

British officials view the result as sure to increase U.S. confidence in Britain. They say the voters upheld Eden's policy of strengthening the British-American partnership.

Some Laborites, goaded by a traditional Socialist suspicion of American capitalism, have wanted to loosen the ties so the British could play a more independent role in world affairs.

Ike Must Talk With Soviet No. 2; Khrushchev Reveals He Is No. 1

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower, it now appears, will be dealing with Russia's No. 2 man, not its real leader, when he meets Premier Nikolai Bulganin at the Big Four conference this summer.

If there was any doubt remaining in the minds of American experts on who the boss of the Soviet system now is, it was dispelled today as they studied reports of the remarkable arrival in Belgrade of a Soviet delegation to visit Marshal Tito.

The conclusion here is that Nikita Khrushchev, leader of the Communist party in the Soviet Union, is Russia's No. 1 man. Bulganin probably ranks No. 2.

Khrushchev is not regarded as a new Stalin, however. Experts in the American government rate him rather as a kind of chairman of the board in the Kremlin setup. He probably cannot dictate decisions, but must consult with others like Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and similar members of the inner circle.

At Belgrade yesterday Khrushchev was the first off the airplane, preceding Bulganin, although the delegation was going from the Soviet government to the Yugoslav government and the honor of first arrival properly belonged to the Russian Premier. Khrushchev also spoke at the airport while Bulganin stood silent. He was clearly the man who was dealing with Tito, and Bulganin was pushed into the background.

U. S. officials said they had expected, since Tito is Yugoslavia's Communist party leader as well as its government chief, the Soviet visitors would emphasize the importance of the party relationship which they hope to reestablish.

Nevertheless, the scene in Belgrade has raised a question in the minds of diplomats whether the Soviets in fact attached more real importance to the visit to Tito than to the prospective negotiations with the President of the United States and the Prime Ministers of Great Britain and France.

The problem of protocol and proper procedure is only one of those before the government here as arrangements for the top level meeting move through the preliminary stages.

Russia's acceptance yesterday of the Western invitation to the meeting provided fresh evidence of a developing fight between Moscow and Washington over which can roll back the other's power from the heart of Europe.

Eisenhower has been aware of the possibility that he might have to deal with someone other than the real possessor of power in Russia. As recently as May 11 he was asked whether his best information indicated that Soviet control was still unsettled.

Salk Promised Soon as Possible

The Fulton County Health Department will give the second round of Salk polio shots at its 23 health centers as soon as the vaccine is available, Dr. Roy McGee said Friday.

The county health commissioner said the department canceled plans to administer the shots to all first and second grade students May 16 while the U.S. Public Health Service is making a study of the vaccine.

Reds To Return 62 Craft Loaned By U.S. in War

WASHINGTON, May 27 (NYT)—The Russians have agreed to turn back to the United States during July and August 62 of the small naval craft that were loaned to them during World War II.

The transfer will take place at Kiel, Germany. The formal agreement was signed here yesterday by Georgi N. Zarubin, the Soviet ambassador, and Thornsten V. Kalijarvi, deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs.

Six of the vessels are submarine chasers and the remaining 56 are motor torpedo boats transferred to Russian control under the wartime lend-lease program.

Mr. Barwick Wants A 'Special Brand'

That was a remarkable statement made by Cook Barwick, Atlanta attorney and member of the State Personnel Board, at the meeting of the Georgia Bar Association Thursday.

Mr. Barwick said the state's lobbying law should be amended to give attorneys more freedom in advising the General Assembly on legislation. He said lawyers have a right and a responsibility to assist the Legislature and should not be branded as lobbyists and forced to "wear a metal clip in their ears" for so doing.

Mr. Barwick is right in one respect. Lawyers do have a right and responsibility to advise the legislators. But so do all other citizens as individuals and as groups. That is the only way a representative democracy can function.

But Mr. Barwick is completely wrong in implying that lawers as a class should be given free rein to lobby for their clients without registering as such. "Advising" the Legislature on bills as paid agents for special interests is a far cry from merely fulfilling the duties of citzens. Lobbyists should be known as lobbyists and all members of the Legislature and the public as well should also know whom they represent.

Lobbyists must register in Washington. Why is the situation different in Atlanta? Why should paid representatives of special interests be permitted to function furtively and even openly on the floor of the General Assembly to influence legislation that affects every citizen and remain unidentified?

Mr. Barwick is quoted as saying that lobbyists outside the legal profession should be curbed but that no further restrictions should be made on lawyers. For heavens sake, what is the difference between lobbying lawyers and lobbying accountants?

All interests that make up our total economy have a perfect right to present their cases. They have the right of free speech, free press and legislative petition to protect themselves. But let it be open and aboveboard.

Lobbyists are paid legislative agents. They should not be ashamed to admit it. There's no stigma attached to being an honest lobbyist.

Perhaps it would be better if lawyers took the advice of another of their number, William B. Saxbee, of Ohio, who warned yesterday, too, against the practice of some lawyers of "prostituting their names and talents for money."

Private Schools Have Financial Crisis, Too

Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of Emory University, has announced that the school will raise its tuition by $25 a quarter, effective next fall. The increase will bring tuition costs to $600 for the academic year and was made necessary by rising costs.

Dr. White's announcement drew attention to the plight of private schools, which if possible, is worse than that of publicly supported institutions. Unless a private school has a large endowment, and apparently there is no such thing as a large enough endowment, it is staring disaster straight in the face these days of inflated costs.

This country is dedicated to the principle of literacy for everybody, which means public schools for all who want to attend. However, by its very nature, public education is geared to the least common denominator. Public education, too, being tax supported, must avoid controversy and subjects which are disagreeable and may smell of heresy to the average voter.

Public education necessarily is sensitive to public opinion. Private schools can afford more independence of thought and are not as susceptible to pressure as schools subsidized by taxes.

In these days when mass suggestion has been brought to a fine art, and the mass reflex is being exploited to the fullest, we need independent thinkers and speakers as never before. Private schools may be the last strongholds of intellectual freedom. They deserve support, if only to provide leaven for the somewhat heavy dough of mass education.

Phone Strike Is Over And Public Is Glad

Most of the striking telephone workers are back on the job. Unless there is something in fine print that we do not understand, it is difficult to understand who gained anything from the 72-day walkout that brought about greater violence than can be remembered in any previous strike in the South.

The company carried its point on the "no strike" clause, a point that certainly seems justified. Certainly a contract that does not bind both parties is no contract. Repeated walkouts by union locals while previous contracts were in effect led to the company's insistence on this clause.

The union gained certain wage concessions, most of which were offered before the strike. But workers lost a total of $17,500,000 in wages and additional funds they would have received had the contract been signed earlier.

The union gained an extra holiday and certain other concessions regarding classification of employes and arbitration, but many of these were offered before the strike occurred.

Union members appear happy with the terms of the contract as finally accepted. Let us hope that they think long and carefully in considering what they have gained through the strike that could not have been won without it.

Inconvenience to the public caused by the strike caused less resentment than the vandalism and violence that accompanied it. A few reckless individuals brought resentment against the entire union that will linger for a long time.

The bewildered public is glad the strike is over. It also hopes there will be no recurrence and that responsible men and women will be able to reach decisions next time without the extremes of the event just ended.

Bulganin Is Premier, But Who Is the Boss?

Arrival of the Soviet delegation in Yugoslavia is leading to speculations about who is the top man in Russia. Is it Premier Bulganin or is it Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev?

Outside of the fact that the Russian leaders are eating crow and Premier Tito seems to be enjoying every minute of that, the amazing fact about the conference thus far is that Khrushchev is in the forefront. Bulganin is described as looking like a bewildered old man.

Khrushchev was first off the plane when it arrived in Belgrade. He acted as spokesman, humbly apologizing for the way the Kremlin has treated Tito in the past. In all instances, Khrushchev seems to be the real "boss" instead of merely party chief.

So the riddle of who is actually successor to Stalin goes on. While Khrushchev does not appear yet to have absolute power, he seems to dominate the tight little group that is now running the show.

As for the trip to Belgrade, almost anything could come of it. Tito is in a splendid bargaining position and the Russians know it. And the West must remember that he is first and last a Communist and can hold little love for democracy. His defiance of Moscow puts him in a favorable position of playing one side against the other.

The trip by these Russian leaders to Yugoslavia indicates their very real fear of the spread of Titoism—a term that has come to mean the development of nationalist Communist movements independent of Moscow.

Money for Research Is Bread Upon the Waters

Georgia has a new laboratory in the field of agricultural research.

The building is at the Coastal Plains Experiment Station at Tifton and was dedicated recently by Gov. Marvin Griffin. Already Tifton experiments have paid off richly by adding to the farm wealth of the South. Coastal and Suwannee Bermuda grasses were developed there, along with finer and more productive food crops.

Research is the key to progress in today's world. Medicine, industry and agriculture solve one problem after another in their laboratories. Through research comes man's release from many onerous burdens, from pain and hunger.

Research into crop and animal production is of particular importance. The world's population is outstripping the world's arable acres. More meat and food per acre is the only way starvation can be kept at bay.

Georgia is fortunate in this phase of research. The experiment stations of the College of Agriculture of the University System have been in the forefront of the revolution that brought diversified agriculture and meat production to Georgia, and brought them here to stay.

The Corsi controversy will serve a useful purpose if it succeeds in showing up the true nature of this McLeod cuckooland. If Dulles has damaged the Republican Party by firing Corsi, President Eisenhower can do it a great service by putting his prestige and support behind the best features of the several amendments now in the congressional hopper to eliminate the worst discriminations of the refugee act. In the meantime the best service Eisenhower can pay the existing refugee act, as it is, would be to put it in sympathetic hands. That would mean firing Scott McLeod as security administrator, and that would be no great loss.

Memorial Day Weekend Road Death Toll Emphasizes Need for Safe, Slow Driving

EGGLESTON, Va. — Monday, May 30, thousands and millions of us Americans will drive a few miles or a few hundred miles to lay flowers on some loved one's grave. A sweet and respectful gesture, of course. Except for one thing. In doing so, we will make 250—perhaps 300—more new graves for someone to lay flowers upon. One almost hears silent lips all over our broad land admonish, "Don't do it, son; I can do without the flowers."

The fact is that with so many of our national holidays turned into veritable death traps, taking such fearful toll of life and limb, it is a wonder that they are not, one by one, nationally abolished.

But if you must fare forth with flowers to some cemetery, drive carefully. Speed kills more than any other one factor. Observe state speed limits. And remember, too, no one is going to complain if you fall five or 10 miles below the state law.

Down in Mississippi, at the dividing of a dual highway sits one of the worst wrecked cars I have ever seen. The rear is raised a couple of feet to present a better view. In front of this token of a terribly disastrous wreck is a placard in bold lettering: "HE NEVER LIVED TO ENJOY THE TIME HE SAVED."

Asks for Abolition Of Milk Price Fixing

Atlanta—There has been much controversy over the fixed pricing of milk. Now, to help the dairy farmer financially in order to keep his business going and growing is good for the farmer and the state, but the method used in doing this seems illogical.

To me the effect of price fixing on milk seems to be nothing but a subsidy paid for by the consumers of milk, the majority of whom are children. This subsidy which is a benefit to the state as a whole should be paid for by the state as a whole.

Price fixing should be abolished and a subsidy should be paid by the state directly to the farmer. Besides distributing the weight of this subsidy more equitably it would benefit the farmer only, without enabling the milk distributors to cash in as they do with price fixing.

Parent Suggests Cut In School Activities

Atlanta—Let the taxpayer take note that the general assembly is being called into special session because of the education crisis. And let us consider the report of the State Program Study Groups: Namely that the State Constitution does not provide taxation for payment of salaries and other expenses incident to providing extracurricular activities such as band, orchestra, dancing, dramatics, athletics, etc.

In the opinion of the State Program Study Group, elimination of these "enrichment program" services will result in an annual saving of $150,000.

Surely with over-crowded class rooms and a shortage of teachers, funds devoted to these "frills" (designed for exploitation of exhibitionist pupils) could be better used for additional "regular" class room teachers so that the teacher-pupil ratio can be small enough for the pupil to have a rich and adequate education.

Bull Sessions With a Purpose

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — The difference between a bull session and a buzz session is that a buzz session is organized. I have participated in many of the former, but until this week not one of the latter. Here is the way a buzz session works:

The assembly — civic club, literary circle, trade association or Sunday school class — is divided into small groups or tables. The number in each would depend on the size of the total membership. With our buzz fest, it was eight at a table. Eight is enough.

Each group picks a chairman and a secretary.

Each group is handed a statement which poses a problem. The problem has to do with the general nature or business of the club, class or society. If there are enough groups or tables, more than one problem can be handed out. With 27 groups of eight each, we had three problems, one going to each of nine tables.

The problems might be like that faced by the Englishman, the Scotchman and the Irishman who shared the same apartment.

Their housekeeper was a valued and able employe, but now they had learned she had succumbed to temptation and stolen $300. What should they do?

The Englishman was unequivocating. He said, "Fire her." The Scot said, "Take the money out of her wages." "But," the Englishman protested, "She doesn't make enough."

"Then raise her wages," was the suggestion of the Irishman.

After the discussion groups have kicked the question around for a few minutes, working toward a solution, the moderator calls time. The secretary of each table gets up and summarizes the decision of his group. Findings are compared. Perhaps a panel of experts renders an opinion after hearing the group reports.

That, friends, is the buzz session. It is a stimulating experience.

Given a challenging problem, the room sounds like the Thursday afternoon bridge club when it gets the word that the cashier at the bank has left town, taking with him $10,000 of the bank's money and the bank president's young wife.

The buzz session may not accomplish any more than the afternoon at bridge. But it does offer the same challenging element of competition.

In fact, it is much like duplicate bridge. Each table is dealt the same hand, a given set of circumstances calling for a decision. How would you play it?

Presidents, program chairmen, etc., should be interested in this effective method of provoking group discussion.

Give it a buzz. You'll find it's fun.

Science Has Declared War On Many 'Farm' Diseases

All the news in the medical scientific world isn't being made in the field of human treatments. There's plenty of developments in our scientific treatment of farm livestock.

And the developments being made in Georgia should be good news to all of us whether we have farming interests or not.

Bang's disease, or brucellosis, a fever which attacks cattle and through them attacks people, is under attack in two of Georgia's state publications.

Other forms of brucellosis are carried by infected hogs, as well as goats and sheep.

When caught by man from livestock, the disease is known as undulant fever.

While the pasteurization of milk, the inspection of cattle, and the vaccination of calves have greatly reduced undulant fever in Georgia, there are still a number of cases reported each year. Ten years ago 169 cases were reported to the Georgia Department of Public Health. Last year only 45 cases were reported.

Georgia's Health, monthly bulletin of the Georgia Department of Public Health, gives details on the effects of undulant fever on humans and recommends pasteurization of milk and the vaccination of calves as means of controlling the disease. The drug aureomycin is described as the first generally accepted treatment for undulant fever in humans. Even the drug does not work in every case.

The Market Bulletin gives details on the Georgia Department of Agriculture's program for the vaccination of calves as a means of controlling brucellosis. With shots furnished free by the federal and state governments, 178 veterinarians in the state are cooperating to put the program across.

Rural families or families living in communities where there are no pasteurization facilities, says Georgia's Health, can make their milk safe either by heating to 160 degrees Fahrenheit, stirring constantly, or by bringing to boiling point. (A dairy thermometer costs about $2 and can be bought at most farm stores.) The milk should then be chilled quickly by placing the container in cold water and stirring until cool enough to be refrigerated.

Until the advent of the drug aureomycin there was no generally accepted treatment for undulant fever. People who did not have relatively strong constitutions were unable to overcome the infection and suffered a chronic condition the rest of their lives.

Georgians are making fine progress in the drive to curtail disease among livestock. A never-ending battle to eliminate livestock diseases is on and getting results. The old "common" diseases on the farm, affecting both animals and the humans who had contact with them, are on the way out too.

Everybody's Happy But the Squirrels

Dear "Grandma:" It was very sweet of you to send me that new water pistol all for my very own so I would not have to swipe my children's water pistols every time I wanted to play with one. I just wanted to say "thank you" and to tell you I had been putting it to good use.

I have been squirting squirrels with it. In fact, I am as good a shot with a water pistol, I'll bet you, as Davy Crockett was with ol' Betsey, his rifle. I had been wondering for a long time what to do about those squirrels that come and steal all the bird seed off the bird feeding station that sits right outside my living room window, and now I know. I squirt them with the water pistol. I fill up the pistol with ice water or maybe plain water with a little ammonia in it and sit by the window, being as quiet as a mouse, or maybe quieter, and pretty soon all the birds that are feeding there take off in a great hurry and I know a squirrel is coming.

And all of a sudden he is there, "boomp," gobbling up the sunflower seed and the peanut butter and the syrup cane seed like a pig. His nose is only about six inches away from mine but he can't see me through the screen, so I squirt him right between the eyes, a good strong squirt, and you never see such a surprised squirrel in your life. He leaps straight up in the air and does a back somersault and hits the ground running and does not stop until he is 60 feet up in the top of the oak tree, sneezing and shaking his head and wiping his face with his paws and cussing out everybody in the universe. And he does not come back, but some of his brothers or his uncles or his cousins do, and I let them have a salvo too.

Sometimes they are sitting sideways to me and I squirt them in the ear, and a squirrel who is squirted in the ear jumps even farther and runs faster and climbs higher and cusses louder than the ones that are squirted between the eyes, even. And sometimes they are facing away from me with their tails curled up over their back, but I do not recommend shooting squirrels with a water pistol from this angle, for they seem to lose all sense of time and space and they go into a sort of frenzy. The one time I shot a squirrel in this manner he gave a convulsive leap and changed direction in the air and landed spread-eagled against the window screen just two inches from my nose and a man cannot remain steady of nerve while a squirrel is flying through the air at his head so I lunged backward and knocked a lamp off the table and stepped on some phonograph records and broke them, and I am not sure who won that encounter, me or the squirrel.

Anyway, I thank you, and the birds thank you, for sending me the new water pistol. What the squirrels would have to say about it though I'm afraid we couldn't print.

Devotedly,
H. M.

Emphasis on Speed Is Ageless Problem

"In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength." (Isaiah 30:15)

One of the words which best identifies our lives is the word "speed." Most of us are in a hurry. We move helter-skelter through our crowded days—and often well into our harried nights. How many of the things we are most accustomed to are suggestive of speed.

New automobiles are advertised as having designs which suggest a forward-thrust. They are constructed for fast travel. Our kitchens also represent the same modern concept. How many of the products we use "save time." Mechanical appliances save time, prepared foods save time, dishwashing machines save time.

This desire for speed is a contagious thing and each of us is its victim. Of course, if we "save time" we have "more time." But more time for what? What is it we want to do with all the time we have saved?

When driving we challenge the speed laws and get to our destinations ahead of time. But is it worth the strain on our nerves and the strain on the car? For what of value do we do with the eight or 10 minutes we have "saved?"

Our ancestors used to bid farewell, when a friend left in a buggy for a journey, with the word "Godspeed." That did not mean, "God speed you along" in our sense of "God hurry you along." It meant, "God give you success and good fortune." Our times have somewhat changed that benediction to mean "Good Speed."

We speak of our day as one of speed, but actually this is not entirely a modern circumstance. Centuries ago the wise men of Israel were concerned with the haste with which men moved. People were rushing about and getting there. They were in a hurry and were becoming confused. They weren't waiting long enough to determine goals and purposes. So their lives became snarled. They sped from one activity to another and from one hour into another so quickly that they missed those things in life which are worth living for.

I believe in getting things done and sometimes in a hurry, but rushing sometimes gets us nowhere. We need the quiet and peace which come through meditation and prayer. God Himself rested on the seventh day of Creation to contemplate on that which He had created.

"The race is not to the swift," says Ecclesiastes 9:11, "nor the battle to the strong." The hymn writer said, "Take time to be holy." Physical vigor requires periods of rest, and spiritual strength comes through those times when we turn from busy-ness to consider the timeless realities which alone can give meaning and depth to the fleeting hours of our lives.

'Illiterate' Cherokee Invented Language

It is to be doubted that many Georgians know the famous Sequoyah trees of California are named in honor of an early resident of our state —The Cherokee Sequoyah, illiterate inventor of a written language for his people.

A recent historical publication tells of Sequoyah and of many other engrossing things about the nation within a nation.

The publication deals with New Echota, capital of the Cherokee Nation.

New Echota lived a brief, bright life near the present city of Calhoun, Georgia. The Indian capital was founded in 1826. By 1830 it was declining, and by 1838 it was gone, victim of the white man.

During its brief existence New Echota saw the emergence of a civilization remarkably advanced, a tribute to the ingenuity and adaptability of its Indian masters.

A written language was invented, a Cherokee newspaper started, a republican form of government adopted, support of schools inaugurated.

"Early Georgia," a publication of the Society for the Preservation of Georgia history, has devoted its spring edition to New Echota. The editor, Joseph R. Caldwell, Ocmulgee National Monument, Macon, says in his foreword that "had the forces opposed to the continued existence of the Cherokee Nation in the east been a little less strong, the Cherokees might well have attained a cultural balance which the whites would have been hard put to equal."

The story of yesterday's New Echota is a remarkable one, and a story almost equally remarkable is the story of today's New Echota.

When the City of Calhoun decided to seek restoration of New Echota as a museum park, they faced an initial problem of considerable size: where was New Echota? And here is where the historian comes in. Dr Henry Malone of the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, long has specialized in history of the Cherokees, and his research supplied the answer.

Notes of a Georgia surveyor who walked the lands of New Echota in 1832 gave the clue to discovery of the site of the Indian capital. Dr. Malone and associates went over the area covered by the surveyor and using the 66-foot chain of early 1800, they found what they believed to be the site of New Echota. Excavation proved them right.

The story of the excavation, told by archeologist Clemens de Baillou, and other stories of New Echota are too exciting to be brushed off in the little space remaining in this column. I'll go further into this matter next week.

J Roy McGinty, Editor, The Calhoun Times has a Sequoyah article in the "New Echota" issue of "Early Georgia." He tells of the ingenious syllabary the Indian fashioned and of "Tsalagi Tsulehisanunhi" (Cherokee Phoenix), the Cherokee newspaper. Dr. Malone writes of the early history of New Echota.

The entire issue is fascinating.

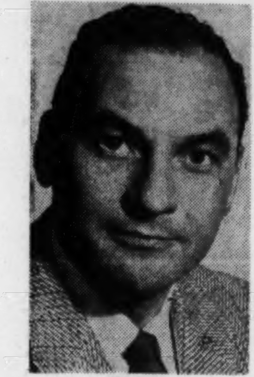
Spare That Bullpen, Pliz

For what it's worth: And whatever became of the Cracker pitcher (not named Bob Griggie) who could go nine innings? . . . I'm as proud as the next one of a sterling bullpen, but I'm for using it sparingly. . . . That ungrammatical aroma that blew through town Friday afternoon was old Jay Hanna Dean on his way from a cornball festival in Meridian, Miss., to the TV Game of the Week.



Bisher

The story is about that a couple of "shoe men" may buy the Memphis Chicks. Horseshoe men, I hope. A fellow needs some luck with a baseball franchise these days. . . . The operators of the St. Pete Florida State League club were too smart to tie themselves down to class D ball. A little investigation would show that they have a contract with the FSL releasing the territory at any time to a higher classification. . . . A dozen times at least someone or another has pointed with alarm at the high price of transportation to Miami. A round-trip air coach flight from Atlanta to Miami costs $50.95. Round-trip plane fare to Little Rock is $67.43. There is no coach service. Air coach fare to Miami is $4 cheaper than Pullman, not including meal costs on train. If the International League can make it from Montreal to Havana, the Southern can make it to Miami. If that be an issue.

Georgia will charge the standard Athens home game price for the Ole Miss soiree at Grant Field—$4. . . . Royal Coinage, the Alabama horse handicapped third behind Summer Tan and Nashua for the Kentucky Derby, is being prepared for a comeback in Red Leatherbury's Mobile stables. Has some kind of leg trouble. . . . And whatever became of Duke of Lullwater?

To put in his time as Joe Engel's Lighthouse Game coach, Charlie Letchas had to take leave of a new job he's got with Sunnyland Packing Co. in Thomasville. President Fritz Roberts, Vice President Dude Howard and Hosea Vann figured the cause worth the donation of a Letchas. . . . "Card Pitching Finally Clicks" (headline of May 17)—Then somebody jimmied the offense. . . . Out in Phoenix, Ariz., they gave the kids in a new elementary school a vote to name the place. Winner in a walkover: Davy Crockett. And I wonder how Hopalong Cassidy's doing these days?

—Myer Was Gilbert's Greatest

Joe Engel takes the oath that a home run Jim Lemon hit against Little Rock last Saturday night is the longest he ever saw. The bomb cleared an 80-foot light tower back of the scoreboard 368 feet from home plate in Chattanooga. . . . Larry Gilbert left the Southern Association without changing one firm opinion: That Buddy Myer, New Orleans '24, is the greatest alumnus the league ever had. . . . And whatever became of Goose Goslin?

At 31, and from San Francisco, where he's won six straight, Gene Bearden claims he's ready for the majors again. It was this left-handed knuckleballer whose blue-chips pitching won the playoff game and pennant for Cleveland in '48. . . . "Faster than Turley," they say of Baltimore's new $30,000 bonus baby, 18-year-old John Swango. That's almost $150,000 in bonus outlays for the Birds since P. (not for Poor) Richards arrived. . . . A year ago this time Charlie Williams was driving a milk truck in New Orleans. Now he's driving pitchers crazy for Nashville. A remarkable development.

Dolph Camilli, then a kid first baseman for the Phils, holds the distinction of retiring Babe Ruth for the last time. The Babe grounded to him on May 30, 1935, when he closed out with the Boston Braves. . . . Things are back to normal again. Got another letter from Archie Moore, who writes more often than mother. . . . Horses, like athletes, often develop in later years. Take Stymie, for instance, four years old before he won his first stakes race. Then he banked $918,485 and retired.

—Rudolph, the Red-Hot Pitcher

Don Rudolph, the Memphis reliefer, is the same Rudolph who won 28 games at Jesup in '51. No relation to a prominent reindeer of a similar name. . . . Genius doesn't necessarily breed control. A Massachusetts Institute of Technology pitcher fanned 22 Boston College batters but walked 17 and the best he could get out of a 13-inning game was an 8-8 tie. . . . The greatest five-year pitching record in history is held by Lefty Grove. From 1929 through 1933 the old A's ace won 128, lost only 33 for a .795 percentage. . . . Up in Memphis last week Bobby Dodd said that Stan Flowers is "potentially the greatest football player I ever coached." And he added that it's a long way from potential to actual.

Mail Call: "I'm a Sunday school teacher. My class is made up of 24 boys and girls very interested in sports, especially baseball. . . . How much easier the job is made when I have men like Clyde King to hold up as an example for them. I thank God for a man who is not ashamed to tell the world of his faith in the Lord."—Keitha Lynn K., Duluth. . . . "I can pity the poor folks who have to buy butter and eggs after a three-day stand at Little Rock. I knew, because for a number of years I was one of the 'Faithful Four Hundred' who paid my way into Travelers' Park."—Pat Hogan, Tallahassee, Fla. . . . To Joe Golden, Cartersville: Oldest SEC track records are Glenn Hardin's 46.8 440 dash and Jack Torrance's 53-6½ shot-put peg, both in '34, both from LSU.

Miami backfield coach Perry Moss saw both Georgia Tech and Notre Dame in spring practice games, went home and told the boss, Andy Gustafson, Tech looked more dangerous. Tech is also more closer, the opening opponent. . . . Benny (Birmingham News) Marshall says that Bear Bryant next can expect to hear from the NCAA, which won't be as lenient as his own conference. . . . Mrs. Ralph Jordan was regarded as a lady of extreme optimism when she planted slow-growing pecan trees on her arrival in Auburn, where football coaching traffic had been heavy. Today, four years later, Mrs. J. is quite happy to report that both her trees and her husband's football team are doing quite well. . . . Selah.

Sticks Steals Show For Preakness Run

Winless Late Chicago Entry 'Challenges' Nashua, Alibi

BALTIMORE, May 27 (AP)—There is too a race horse named Sticks.

He's here at Pimlico, ready to challenge the famed Nashua and seven other 3-year-olds tomorrow in the $100,000-added Preakness.

A lot of Pimlico railbirds didn't believe it. They swarmed around his barn at Old Hilltop today. They peered. They shook their heads over the surprise entry owned by Frank A. Benner and Norman C. Galbraith of Chicago.

Around the corner, four grooms provided the only companionship for Belair Stud's Nashua, who has his own special mineral water to drink and probably will leave the starting gate tomorrow, 5:45 p.m. (EDT), 4-5 favorite.

Sticks has an insignificant background. He traveled the hard way to get to Pimlico in the middle of the night—by air and by truck over a large segment of the United States.

The wonder of it all might make a script for movie executive Harry M. Warner.

Warner is on hand with his own Preakness entry, Honeys Alibi. Incidentally, "Honey" is somewhat in the Cinderella class, too, what with young Carlos Gonzales up on his first Preakness entry. Honeys Alibi is the only California horse in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Sticks became the sixth of the nine Preakness entries in the same barn. He joined Nashua, Honeys Alibi, Clifford Mooer's Traffic Judge, Roslyn Farm's Go Lightly and Everglades Farm's Nance's Lad.

Off by themselves in three other barns were Gee Cohen's Chuck Thompson, Montpelier's Saratoga and Duntreath Farm's Fleet Path.

The odds-makers on the day before the Hilltop classic had Nashua figured at 4-5, while Saratoga was second choice 5-1, and Traffic Judge 6-1.

Eddie Arcaro will be up on Nashua, while Nick Shuk will pilot Saratoga and Eric Guerin will be on Traffic Judge.

Sticks has everyone's attention in the "Big" barn. Trainers, helpers and anyone else who was around listened with disbelief at the story of Trainer John Wozneski.

Wozneski fits right in the picture, too. He is only 28 and has been training horses for nine years. Probably never again will he have an experience like this one.

It was Wednesday noon in Chicago when Wozneski, Benner and Galbraith finally convinced each other they ought to go to Pimlico's big race for 3-year-olds.

There must have been a lot of soul-searching before the decision. Sticks hasn't even been able to run third in six races this year and has won only $590 in fourth-place money. And he is a 20-1 shot tomorrow.

Sticks and Wozneski got on a plane at noon yesterday. Said the trainer:

"I thought it was non-stop and it wasn't until after I paid my money that they told me we would stop in Detroit."

They stayed three hours in Detroit.

Next they landed at Newark, N.J., and got on a truck. Three hours later, at 1:30 a.m., they reached Pimlico.

Physically, Sticks is a movie casting director's dream. He has the fictional "must"—a blaze face. And as Wozneski freely admits: "He's pigeon-toed and has a crooked rear leg."

The race will be televised and broadcast by CBS.

Rip Repulski Slugs, Cards Rap Redlegs

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP)—Rip Repulski set the pace with a double and home run as the St. Louis Cardinals regained some badly missed hitting power to hand the Cincinnati Reds a 7-4 defeat in Busch stadium tonight. Topnotch relief hurling by Paul LaPalme saved off a Redleg threat in the seventh.

Carmelo Costa Out-Boxes Perez at Garden

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — Carmelo Costa, a clever counter puncher with an eye-catching style, gave dancing Lulu Perez a 10-round boxing lesson tonight to win an unanimous decision in the "Battle of Brooklyn" at Madison Square Garden. Perez weighed 126¾. Costa 129½.

Although it was an even fight in the betting, Costa took charge from the very start and never let Perez get started, except for a brief flash in the eighth round.

Judge Jack Gordon scored it 9-1, Judge Artie Aidala 8-2 and Referee Mark Conn 5-4-1, all for Costa. The AP card was 9-1 for Costa.

There were no knockdowns in the nationally televised contest, witnessed by about 2,500 paying fans. Costa exposed the same weakness in Perez that Percy Bassett had exploited when he knocked him out of a title chance last June.

Costa's speed made Perez look slow by comparison although he, too, is supposed to be fast Costa walked right through Perez' best punches to thump away with both hands as though he were strolling through a gentle rain.

Perez, who had knocked out 13 opponents while compiling a 32-5-1 record in 38 previous fights, was expected to carry the scrap to his light-punching opponent. Instead he was too busy fending off the hooks and right hand leads that Costa was throwing.

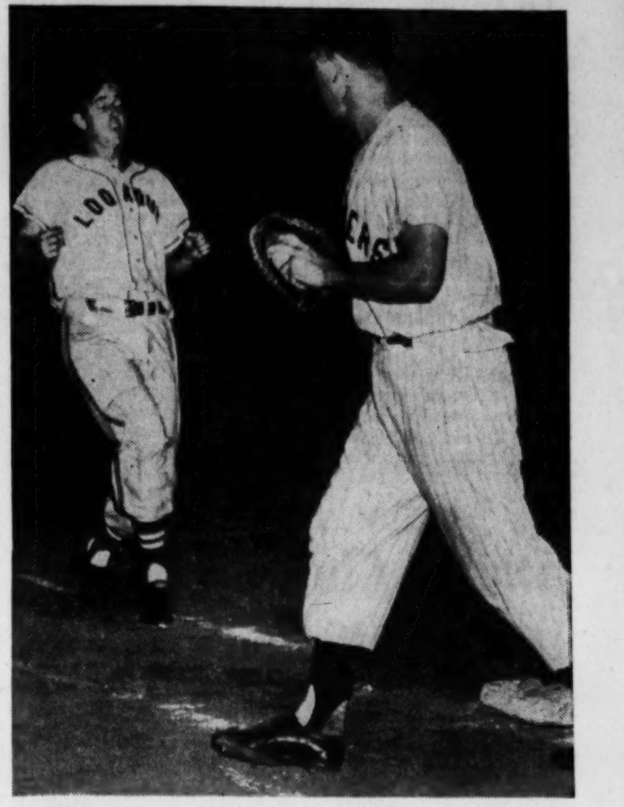
Costa now has won 26 of 32 bouts, losing only two while boxing four draws. He reversed one of his two defeats by whipping Bobby Bell in a rematch earlier this year.

Giggie Pitches Crax Over Looks, Into Lead

Thorpe, Hersh, Montag Sock

By JESSE OUTLAR

Bob Giggie supplied the pitching—a gilt-edged four-hitter — and Bob Thorpe, Earl Hersh and Bob Montag furnished the home-run power as Atlanta leaped over Chattanooga, 4-1, and into first place Friday night.



WHO'S ON FIRST?—Earl Hersh (R) steps off bag and just like on the roster, Ralph Atkins is out. Atkins was ticketed for first with the Crackers at start of season. Hersh is the whiz who got the job when Lookouts' Joe Engel claimed Atkins from Toledo.

At a time when the Crackers needed it most—on the heels of three straight lumpings by lowly Mobile—Giggie came through with the first route-going performance in a dozen games. In fact, it was the first time one of George McQuinn's hurlers had stayed the full nine since Giggie stopped New Orleans May 15.

For the ladies night crowd of 4,033, it was a delightful evening for Giggie it was victory No. 5, and for the Lookouts it was their 15th straight loss at Poncey over a two-year span.

The defeat, plus New Orleans' win over Mobile, flipped the Lookouts from first to third, and left the top three clubs in this congested order: Atlanta, 28-18, .609; New Orleans, 26-17, .605; Chattanooga, 29-20, .592.

The Crackers will rely on Bill Allen (1-1) to increase their spread Saturday night. Bob Ross (3-2), returning to action after a three-week layoff, will attempt to fracture the Poncey hex for Cal Ermer in the second of the five-game set.

This was the first one of a big series, a series which could be the crossroad of an entire season, and the Crackers rose to the occasion in championship style.

They settled the issue in the very first inning when Thorpe and Hersh slammed ex-Cracker Bill Currie for successive homers.

For the second night in a row, Thorpe drove to the base of the left field scoreboard, and Hersh followed with his No. 8 shot over the right-center signs.

The Lookouts collected their unearned marker in the next heat when Jim Lemon lived on Paul Rambone's throwing error, moved down on a walk and raced home on Tom Wright's hit to center.

No other Lookout trespassed beyond second, as Giggie took complete command. In improving his record to 5-2, Giggie fanned five, walked four and looked like the fine prospect he was in 1953.

Rambone got the unearned run back in the second when he slashed a single, swiped second, took third on Steve Korchek's throwing error and wheeled home on a passed ball.

Montag then added another insurance marker with his 10th homer in the sixth, a towering blast into the right field advertising section.

HARRY WALKER LEAVES GAME —ON WAY TO CARDINALS?

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 27 (AP)—Harry (The Hat) Walker, manager of the Rochester Red Wings of the International League, dressed and left the ballpark in the middle of a close game with Toronto tonight. Earlier, it had been reported that Walker would replace Eddie Stanky as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals within 48 hours.

George Beahon, sports columnist for the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle said in his column tonight that he had "learned positively" that Walker would replace Stanky within 48 hours.

It could not be learned immediately where Walker had gone but club officials said they thought he had left town. A check of local airlines failed to turn up any listing for Walker.

Stanky Ouster Imminent, Sporting News Reports

Cardinal Pilot's Position Shaky After Road Skid; Denials Issued

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP)—Eddie Stanky's job as St. Louis Cardinal manager appeared tonight to be on shaky ground.

Although the club's front office denied a copyrighted story by the Sporting News, saying that Stanky was "nearing the end of the road" with the Redbirds, the rumors persisted.

The weekly baseball newspaper, in a story by its publisher, J. G. Taylor Spink, said the team's disappointing start had brought to a climax the discontent of fans and club officials over their failure to gain a contending position in the Stanky regime which began in 1952.

The club returned today from a disastrous road trip of six defeats in seven games which brought the Cardinals' road record to 5-13 and dropped the Redbirds into sixth place.

But Bill Walsingham Jr., vice president of the club, denied the story by saying:

"There has been no discussion about a change of managers by club officials. The recent losses were caused by a lack of hitting and you can't blame a manager for that."

Rumors that the scrappy manager will be fired soon have been prevalent in baseball circles here for several days.

The Sporting News said today "this was the season in which the Redbirds were expected to move up into a challenging position after a three-year rebuilding program."

The baseball newspaper also commented, "Stanky, who has been in hot water on a number of occasions over temper displays again 'blew his top'—according to some players — after a defeat in the opener of a twin bill at Cincinnati, May 23."

Mays' Eighth-Inning Homer Stops Dodgers, 3-1, for Maglie

Erskine Victim Of Gopher Pitch

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Willie Mays unloaded a home run to the opposite field with a man on base in the eighth inning tonight as the New York Giants broke a four-game losing streak with a 3-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Sal Maglie was the winner, knocking off the Dodgers for the 23rd time in 33 lifetime decisions against them. He survived a shaky start to register his fifth victory of the year.

Carl Erskine, who went into the game with a 6-1 record, took the defeat, once again running into too many home runs. All of the last 13 runs charged to the Brooklyn right-hander have been scored on homers.

Bobby Hofman started Erskine's collapse, smacking his third pinch homer of the season in the seventh inning to tie the game at 1-1. It was only the fourth Giant hit of the game and it lifted the 29-year-old utility man into a tie with old-timer Cy Williams for the most pinch-hit home runs—nine, during a major league career.

Rebounding Phillies Capture Fifth, 5-2

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP)—The rebounding Philadelphia Phillies ran their winning streak to five games tonight, beating the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 in 10 innings. Andy Seminick hit a two-run homer in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

The victory went to veteran Herman Wehmeier, his 15th in his last 16 decisions with the cellar dwellers. It gave him a 3-2 record.

Atlanta Club Regatta Draws 100 Sailboats

Three Big Events on Schedule For Weekend at Lake Allatoona

By BILL ALLEN

At least 100 sailboats from throughout the South Atlantic Yacht Racing Assn. will nudge the line Saturday and Sunday in the first of several summer multi-regatta weekends sponsored by the Atlanta Yacht Club at Lake Allatoona.

This weekend, the coveted Larson Trophy will be up for grabs for the Y-Flyer pilots, the Dixie Thistle regatta will be held; and the Chattanooga Privateers will challenge the Atlanta Snipe class sailors in a team regatta.

First races are off at 2:30 Saturday when the Thistle event goes off. Then the Y-Flyer event begins at 2:35. Next at 2:40 p.m. are the Snipe team races and the Moth Trophy races for one-man crews will begin at 2:45.

This is the first event of the season for the South Atlantic Yacht racing union, and sanctioned by the North American Yacht Racing Union. Sailors and their craft from Jacksonville, Louisville, Chattanooga and nine other cities will be on hand.

Finals will be held Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. Chairman of the regatta is Jack O'Shea. Commodore Frank Brady of the Atlanta Yacht Club was instrumental in obtaining the trophy events for the local club.

Braves Cool Cubs As Conley Stars

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Towering Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves, calmly working out of frequent trouble, hurled his seventh victory of the season today, cooling off the second-place Chicago Cubs 7-5.

Gene Baker of the Cubs matched a major league record for putouts by a second baseman in a nine-inning game with 11. Six others share it.

for hitters. Frank DiPrima, who had been aboard on a hit or walk in 40 straight games, was inserted in the No. 4 slot ahd failed to reach first in four ABs. Bob Montag, yanked from the cleanup hole, and placed fifth in manager George McQuinn's revised batting order, poled a homer and single and walked twice for a perfect night. Two passes boosted Montag's walk total to 47. . . .

Earl Hersh vs. Ralph Atkins: Hersh had a homer and a single and made two nifty fielding plays; Atkins was hitless in four trips and struck out twice. . . . John Turco, called to Walpole, Mass., due to his mother's serious illness, is expected to miss the entire Lookout series. . . . Lyle Luttrell, sidelined for several days with a broken jaw, probably will reclaim his Lookout shortstop in a day or so. Jerry Snyder, recently shipped down by Washington, will play either third or second. . . . Previous commitment prevented Chattanooga Mahatma Joe Engel from attending Friday's game, but he'll be on the scene for Sunday's twin bill.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Cool Weather May Aid Drivers Against Vuky

Condensed From Wire Reports

The blistering Indianapolis heat that served him so well for two years probably will desert Bill Vukovich Monday.

A forecast of cool, dry weather for the Memorial Day 500-mile auto-racing classic appeared to give the rest of the field a better chance of stopping the short, muscular Californian in his quest of a record third-straight championship. Vukovich won the last two races in high temperatures that prevented every other driver except Jack McGrath from going the distance both years.

BASEBALL: Ted Williams didn't get into the Boston Red Sox lineup Friday though he got league approval to play earlier in the day. . . . If everything goes right for the Chicago White Sox' Minnie Minoso, his pitched ball-fractured skull will heal in time for him to reappear against the Yankees June 3. He will remain in a Chicago hospital until Tuesday. . . . Western Michigan beat Alma, 15-4, and made the NCAA district 4 semi-finals, opposing Ohio State.

FOOTBALL: Looking over the Air Force Academy campus at Denver, Buck Shaw said it was "a possibility" he would become the Academy's head football coach. . . . The Big Ten met at Columbus and agreed to distribute football TV receipts equally to all members. A couple of Indiana freshman basketballers were reinstated at the meeting.

MISCELLANY: LaSalle's Al Cantello set a new javelin record of 228-2½ in the IC4A Track and Field Championships in New York. Brisk favoring winds helped Northwestern's Jim Golliday (20.9) in the 220) and Iowa's Les Stevens (22.5 in the low hurdles) break other records set by Ohio State's Jesse Owens in 1935. But the marks will probably be disallowed because of the wind. . . . Tony Trabert, Vic Seixas, and Ham Richardson all recovered from shaky starts and gained the fourth round of the French International Tennis Tournament in Paris . . . Rex Ellsworth's El Drag challenges Determine and Reject in the Argonaut Handicap at Hollywood Park . . . Belmont's American Oaks field is headed by High Voltage . . . Best of the Newport Harbor Rowing Regatta teams are the Navy and University of Washington crews.

In a race that saw the lead changed frequently, Bill Shockley held it last to grab first place in the feature of the midget cars' run at the Peach Bowl Friday night. Claude Lay was second and Ralph Blalock third.

WADE HOPES FOR NEW DEAL FROM NEW RAM HEAD COACH

By LARRY FOX

Bill Wade hopes a change in coaches means a change in his fortunes with the Los Angeles Rams next fall.

The former Vanderbilt all-star quarterback got out of the Navy last summer just in time to join the Rams as they opened pre-season practice. And except for the last game of the season, he might just as well have remained at sea.

"Of course, with a fellow like Norm Van Brocklin ahead of you it's kind of hard to break in," Wade explained Friday night at the Atlanta Vanderbilt Alumni Association meeting here.

"Van Brocklin led the league in passing last year, I know," Wade continued, "but we still weren't winning games. It seemed as if Hamp Poole (the coach) just didn't have any confidence in me.

"I was going nuts sitting on the bench, then in the last game of the season against Green Bay, I got to play three fourths of the game. We won, too, even though Green Bay had handed us our worst defeat of the year earlier in the season."

Wade, assistant alumni secretary at Vanderbilt in the off-season, hopes new coach Sid Gillman will give him a chance to start off even with Van Brocklin. "Gillman's system is a lot like Vanderbilt's, so I may have an advantage," Wade said.

With Wade on the program were Vice Chancellor Madison Sarratt and Buford (Baby) Ray, an assistant football coach. Burton Shackelford, president of the Atlanta alumni chapter, acted as master of ceremonies and Rembert Marshall, a member of the Vandy Board of Trust, introduced Dr. Sarratt.

THE CLIPBOARD: Alex Truitt, coach of Russell High School and former teammate and roommate of Ray's at Vandy was on hand with his prize end, Tommy Redmond, who's Vanderbilt bound. . . . Other future Commodores on hand were Mike Kennedy of Northside, Henry Askew of Griffin and Andy Hobbs of Marist, plus a junior prospect, Fred Murphy of Fulton. . . . Lee Nalley, Westminister grid coach and a teammate of Wade's was present. Wade reminded him of the time defensive ace Nalley held Barney Poole, the great Ole Miss end, to only one pass reception in a 10-7 Commodore victory. That was with Charley Conerly chucking, too. "Next week we played Alabama and stopped Harry Gilmer and were feeling pretty cocky," Nalley recalled, "and then Kentucky came up and clobbered us." . . . The alumni meet also helped celebrate Founders Day.

SOUTH LIGHTHOUSE STARS TO BE ANNOUNCED SUNDAY

The South squad for the 1955 Lighthouse High School All-Star baseball game, which will be played Thursday night, June 9, at Ponce de Leon Park, will be announced in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

The 16-player North squad will be announced in Monday morning's Constitution. Subsequent stories about the players—and a special surprise feature involving some old-time stars—will follow next week in The Constitution.

Tickets for the classic may be bought from a member of any Lions Club or at the Journal-Constitution front counter.

Steady McDonald Hurls Americus to 6-2 Start

Newnan's Denney Out-Supported; Avery Triples, Paces Panthers

By MICKEY LOGUE
Constitution Sports Writer

AMERICUS, May 27—Steady Wayne McDonald—moving via the kind of support his mound foe was denied—clutch-pitched Americus High's defending Class A baseball kings half way back to the throne room here Friday.

The home-standing Panthers repelled challenging Newnan, 6-2. Tigers and Americus Monday play the second of their best-of-three series at Newnan at 4 p.m.

Coach John Hammett's invading Tigers strummed an 11-hit tune on the bespectacled right-hander's serves but couldn't set the melody to run-time. Except for two markers in the fourth inning, McDonald and his mates halted all Newnan threats.

Lefty Ted Denney, ace Tiger hurler, whiffed six, walked five and allowed only one earned run. However, early wildness and a fourth-frame fielding collapse by his mates helped hand him his second loss of the campaign. That, and Americus hitting when it hurt.

Twice McDonald prevented Denney, a good hitter, from saving his own ball game. He fanned the left-hander with the bases loaded in the fifth. And forced Denny to line out in the seventh, ending the game with two aboard.

Newnan drew its first blood in the fourth. Catcher Shelby Mapp singled. Denney advanced him one base with another single and Mapp scored on Ellis Mansour's ground-out to second. Gerald Favor plated Denney with a single to right.

Two walks, a fielder's choice and safeties by Everett Arrington and Thomas Avery brought Americus' initial run in the third.

An error at short with two away set the stage for the Panthers' big fourth-frame explosion. A single by James Jennings put two aboard. Dan Gammage scored Raymond Holt, who got on via the miscue, with a one-baser. Jennings and Gammage raced home when the right fielder dropped a fly. Jennings, Gammage and Jordan stole second in succession in the fourth.

Stanley Bivins' triple plus an error ended the scoring in Americus' portion of the sixth.

Avery paced the winners stickwise with a triple and single. Caswell Eidson's three singles and Ellis Mansour's double and triple led the Tigers.

Pelicans Club Mobile And Take Over Second

New Orleans Wins 9-0 Battle; Nashville Whips Barons, 4-2

By the Associated Press

The New Orleans Pelicans clubbed Mobile Friday night 9-0 and moved up a notch to second place in the scramble for top spot in the Southern Association.

Chattanooga toppled out of first place and fell behind the Pels in absorbing a 4-1 defeat in the first game of a crucial series with the front running Atlanta Crackers.

Nashville's Leroy Jarvis homered in the top of the ninth with two on to give Nashville a 4-2 victory over Birmingham. Nashville's other run was on a homer by Charley Williams in the fifth.

Birmingham knotted the score in the fifth when little Gene Hassell scored on a hit by Leon Carter.

Right-hander Bill Fischer pitched and batted the Memphis Chicks to a 5-2 triumph over last place Little Rock.

Fischer, never in serious trouble, scattered eight Little Rock hits. In starring at the plate, Fischer hit a long drive to the opposite field which hit on the line and rolled into foul territory for a triple.

Zauchin Bats In 10, Slams Three Homers

First Sacker Also Doubles As Bosox Blank Nats, 16-0

BOSTON, May 27 (AP)—Norm Zauchin, a .214 hitter, drove in 10 runs with three home runs—including a grand slam—and a double tonight to power the Boston Red Sox to a 16-0 victory over Washington while teammate Tom Brewer tossed a six-hitter.

Zauchin, a 220-pound, 6-5 right-handed first baseman, took sure aim at the left field wall at Fenway Park to come within one of the American League record for runs batted in for a single game.

Bama's Lary Stops Rollins On Four Hits

WINTER PARK, Fla., May 27 (AP)—Alabama's Southeastern Conference baseball champions won the opening game of the NCAA District 3 playoff today, 4-1, over Rollins on the strong four-hit pitching of Gene Lary.

The senior right-hander had only a couple of bad moments while tossing his 10th victory of the season. One was a 370-foot home run by Connie Mack Butler for Rollins' lone run in the fourth. The other came in the ninth when Butler and Nick Vancho hit successive singles. Lary got Bob Hardy to pop up to end the threat and the game.

The second game of the series will be tomorrow and a third if necessary on Sunday. The survivor plays the winner of another series between Wake Forest and West Virginia for the right to go to the National Collegiate tournament at Omaha, Neb., June 10-14.

Weight Stars Head AAU Track Program

Vereen, Dillion, Renfro To Duel in Discus Event

The finest field—more than 100 entries—ever to compete in the annual Georgia AAU track and field championships was poised for an all-out assault on present meet records Saturday afternoon at Grant Field. The meet opens at 1 p.m. with preliminaries followed by finals starting at 2 p.m.

Although the runners are usually the glamour boys at most cinder carnivals, the great array of hefty weightmen entered here could draw the spotlight away from the dash, hurdle and relay performers.

The discus, for instance, will feature a former Olympic star and the current top collegiate platterman in addition to the man who placed third in last year's NCAA. Jim Dillion, ex-Auburn ace, is the Olympian. He holds the current GAAU record at 175-9 7/8. and most experts believe it is just a question of time before he reaches the 180 mark.

Carl Vereen, the towering Georgia Tech tackle, has the best throw in the country this year among college tossers and the fourth best over-all. He established a Drake Relays mark of 172-11 7/8 a month ago. The former NCAA third placer is Charles Renfro, ex-Stanford star now of Ft. Benning. And there are other tops flighters in the event, too, such as Fred Berman of the Marine Corps; Bob Dolowitz of Fort Campbell, Ky., and Bob Davis of University of Georgia.

This group will also go in the shot with Berman ranked as a possible winner and record-breaker.

Tennessee has sent down freshman Bill Salter to break the high jump record, Ed Murphey to try to lower the mile standard among others. Georgia, led by captain Kermit Perry in the hurdles, is favored to take the team trophy away from Auburn, which is not represented by its full team this time.

Perry, who has won the high point trophy the past two years, is expected to have plenty of competition from Atlanta's Buddy Fowlkes and Auburn's Bill Yarbrough, hero of last Saturday's SEC meet.

In addition to the meet and high point trophies, there will be a trophy for the winning mile relay team and the Lt. Robert Preston Aldredge Memorial medal which goes to the two-mile winner. Gold, silver and bronze medals go to the first, second and third placers in each of the 16 events.

Timers, judges and other officials are requested to be at the field by 12:30 p.m. The scratch meeting is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. at the field. Admission is $1 for adults and 50c for students.

DOROTHY KIRBY (L) PRESENTS CITY GOLF TROPHY TO JANICE PHELPS

Janice Phelps Wins Second City Crown

Tops Mrs. McDonald Again, 2 and 1, in East Lake Final

By BERT PRATHER

Janice Phelps, the shy little Capital City Country Club golfer who graduated from Roosevelt High last Wednesday night is just about ready to graduate from City Women's golf competition, too.

At least that is the consensus of those ladies who played against her and the gallerites who watched her stroke her way to a second consecutive City championship Friday over East Lake Country Club's No. 1 course.

Her victim Friday, just as in 1954 at Capital City Country Club, was the talented Mrs. Grady McDonald of Ansley Golf Club. Mrs. McDonald made a battle of it but finally succumbed on the 17th hole, 2 and 1. Last year she carried the 19-year-old to the 20th hole at Capital City before losing.

Both finalist played very fine on the front side, Janice turning in 38 to Mrs. McDonald's 39 for a 1-up lead. The champ got off to a good start, taking the first hole with a bogey five. After halving the next five holes, Mrs. McDonald pulled even with a par four on No. 7, only to go one down by losing the long ninth to Janice's par five.

Mrs. McDonald went two down by three-putting 10 for a six. Janice gave it back to her by hitting out-of-bounds on 11. They swapped wins on the next two holes, Janice taking No. 12 with a par four and losing 13 when she three-putted for a bogey five. They both threw away opportunities on the next three holes, which were halved.

Then Janice almost missed her drive on 17. However, it cleared the branch and she got a fine roll. She was on in three and sank a good 10-footer for her four, while Mrs. McDonald missed her eight-footer to bow out.

Janice obviously was feeling the pressure on the back nine, but showed the mark of a champion by hanging in there and battling back.

She has played in only two tournaments this year, far too few for a youngster of so much promise. It takes tournament experience to toughen up a golfer and Janice is hoping that she will be able to get this in the next few years. She is definitely a fine prospect and has her heart set on getting a job to finance trips to the bigger tournaments.

Former U.S. Women's Amateur queen, Dorothy Kirby, who started out in the game at even an earlier age than Janice, was on hand to present the trophies. Mrs. L. L. Hamilton, president of the Atlanta Women's Golf Assn., emceed the presentation program.

Other results: Championship consolation—Mrs. Sidney Smith beat Mrs. C. W. Read, 3 and 2. First flight—Irene Aden beat Mrs. Alex Wilson Jr., 5 and 4. First consolation—Mrs. H. J. Donahue beat Mrs. Walter Beard, 3 and 2. Second flight—Mrs. T. E. McGeachy beat Betty Vineyard, 2 and 1. Second consolation—Mrs. Lowell Dowdell beat Mrs. Max Smith, 5 and 4. Third flight—Mrs. Teddy Hayes beat Mrs. Robert Steussell, 4 and 2. Third consolation—Mrs. T. M. Hoopes beat Mrs. H. O. Davis, 6 and 4.

Once-Lowly Techs Return Favor, Enter Queen City

Rupp-Beaters Haven't Forgotten '54 Kindness of Buffalo Meet

Whack Hyder will return a favor next Christmas.

It will be to the selection committee that puts on the Queen City basketball tournament in Buffalo, N.Y., and it shows the kind of fellow the Georgia Tech basketball coach is.

"A year ago, after we had that terrible (2-22) season," Hyder recalls, "I went around in the NCAA coaches' meeting and had to beg people to let us come to a holiday tournament. Finally, just on my promise that we would have a much-improved team, the Buffalo people invited us up.

"They treated us wonderfully and I think we put on a good show. This winter, after we beat Kentucky twice, people started begging us to play in their tournaments and we had some pretty good offers," Hyder continued. "However, the Buffalo people were still trying to get their tournament established. They did us a good turn the year before, so we thought it only right that we help them out."

Tech's return visit to Buffalo was confirmed Friday when Hyder and Athletic Director Bobby Dodd released Tech's 1955-56 basketball schedule. It is one of the most ambitious in Tech's history.

In fact, it could have the roughest opening stretch ever. The Jackets open up against North Carolina in Charlotte, N.C., Dec. 9 then play Duke in Durham the next night. Dec. 17 it's Georgia at home.

Next comes the three-game Queen City tourney Dec. 29-Jan. 2 and the Jackets start the regular SEC season off right by meeting Kentucky in Lexington Jan. 7.

The Jackets had a 12-13 record last year and were 7-7 in the SEC for a tie for sixth. —FOX.

LIGHTHOUSE MAN IN STORMY SEA

12 Shortstops, 10 Catchers Give All-Star Selector One Headache

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

So the deadline gets close for picking the Lighthouse High School All-Star teams. The game's coming up June 9 at Ponce de Leon Park. The South team must "run" in the Sunday Journal-Constitution. The North team "goes" next day in The Constitution.

Time's a wastin' so you sit down with a list of recommendations for the South squad. Gotta do it. Gotta cut some fine players off. Gotta decide who it's going to be at every spot.

Haven't seen some of them play. Lordy, look here. Ten catchers, need only two. Twelve pitchers — all fine ones—need five. Twelve shortstops, need one. Can use an "extra" as the other infielder though. Sixteen outfielders. Can use four.

Second base oughta be easy but it's not. Only two real good ones on the list, you muse, but Cordele's Jimmy Medlin and Baker's Amos Ivey are both terrific. You know a lot about them.

EASTMAN'S HAL SMITH

Catcher Batted Cool .391

Only three first basemen you're sure are crackerjacks, but that's not easy either. Jackie Walker at Wacona hit. 565. You saw Richmond Academy's Bernard Moog and Monticello's Gene Kelly. Both real fine fielders and hitters.

How about those catchers. Defense, good arm count most here—more than the bat. A poor catcher or glove man at shortstop can make your game sloppy more than anything.

Chockie Evans at Screven County must be good to be a four-year regular. Screven went to the state B finals twice, tied for an A subregion title this time. Hal Smith at Eastman is a solid citizen behind the plate, smart, works hurlers well, according to Coach Eli Maricich. He should know, played pro ball.

Billy Knight at Benedictine can play anywhere. Catches best though, they say. Ray Hendricks has had a lot to do with Americus success for three years. Americus went all the way for two years, may do it again. Americus boys never let you down.

Daniel Gaskin can hit; that's for sure (.675), and they say he's okay with the mitt and arm. And Douglas never had a Lighthouser before. Melvin Borum at Hawkinsville; If it were football, he'd be a "must." He's a great defensive boy behind the chest protector, too. Marion Bush at Thomasville? He's great, simply great, in football. Four-year regular in baseball, too. Glenwood's Don Stone slugged .600, weighs 200, fine receiver—it says here.

Oh, man! Shortstop is more grief. Jimmy Lee at Baker. Looks like Marty Marion out there. Lester Wilkes at Lanier. Everyone in 1-AA says he can go; good hitter, too. Joe George at Columbus is a nifty. Jimmy Doonan at Savannah, Curtis Wiggins at Glynn Academy—Knight at Benedictine. You're sure they can do a job, have seen 'em or know a lot about 'em.

Francis McSwain at Eastman, Joel Hutcheson at Adrian, Frank Sadler at Albany, Don Roberts at Norman Park, Bush again at Thomasville. They come highly recommended, too. Bonnie Ford at Richmond is a "must," but will that injured hand get well?

Some days it just doesn't pay to get up at all.

RUPP RECALLS HELMS ERROR, HEEDS BERGER ON GLEATON

By LARRY FOX

Larry Fox

Adolph Rupp didn't take any chances about a mistake coming back to haunt him when he snatched up Curtis Gleaton of Brewton-Parker Junior College this week. Big recommendation for the big (6-4½, 195) Gleaton came from Bud Berger, a former Kentucky trainer and now coach of the crack Chipola J. C. quintet. Last man Berger recommended to Rupp was guard Joe Helms, whom the Baron summarily dismissed as "too-small." Helms then went on to Georgia Tech and proved big enough at 5-9½ to help beat Kentucky twice. Gleaton's 17.3 career scoring average isn't what sold him to Rupp. "You can find 'shooters' every day in the week," Rupp said, "but what I need is that big fellow who can pull them down off the boards." Gleaton, only the third junior college boy Rupp has ever signed, could have backfired on Kentucky, too, because Georgia's Red Lawson was reported interested in the Newton lad.

Paul Susce, who had such a rocky season pitching for Auburn this spring, stepped out into the fast Birmingham semi-pro league Sunday and twirled a no-hitter, fanning 14. He'll play summer ball in South Dakota under Sparky Olson, the former Montgomery pilot. . . . North Carolina awarded varsity letters to baseballer Bobby Paller of Atlanta and trackman Roland Perdue of College Park and football fame this spring. Augusta's Nolan Baird won a freshman tennis numeral.

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE, ETC.: Bobby Barnes, Alabama's all-Conference outfielder, wasn't in the lineup when the Tide opened its NCAA playoff at Rollins Friday. Reason is that the Montgomery junior was getting married that day in his home town. Too bad the Third District tournament committee couldn't have been more understanding about fixing its dates.

The University of Maryland's national championship contending lacrosse team doesn't get too much support from Texas-born president Dr. Wilson H. Elkins. Doesn't know a thing about the game, he admits—and neither do many others. . . . Hal Littleford, former Tennessee grid star, has quit as head football coach at East Tennessee State. . . . Larry Frank of Atlanta won the Bluegrass Country Club's annual Vanderbilt Day golf tournament last week with a brilliant 70-69—139—for 18 holes. A football guard, Frank used 13 strokes on No. 13, yet fired a birdie deuce at 11. His handicap gave him the title in the team play with a club member, while Doyle Richardson, a center from Macon, was second with his partner.

Stan Stumpf, Tulane third baseman who knows his way around the basketball floor very well, may join the Baltimore Orioles college colony. He's getting a full tryout with the Birds this week. . . . Dan Magill, Georgia tennis coach and publicity specialist, reports that three footballers who played tennis in high school may come out for his net squad next spring. They are quarterback Jimmy Harper, end Butch Mulherin and "believe it or not," Magill writes, "tackle Pud Mosteller, who is quite agile on the courts and has been playing every day all spring to keep fit."

Speaking of tennis, Tulane coach Emmett Pare's comment when Davis Cupper Ham Richardson played his last collegiate match: "I think I shall resign." However, boys like Jose (Pepe) Aguero and Atlanta's Crawford Henry of Grady should make the future bearable.

Finsterwald Leads by 4 In Indiana

Ohioan Has 131; Doug Ford 20

FORT WAYNE, Ind. May 27 (AP)—Slender Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, pulled further ahead of the favorites today and reached the halfway mark in the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open Golf tournament with a four-stroke, 13-under-par lead of 131.

The surprising Ohioan, who has never won a major golf tourney, appeared unhampered by brisk winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour as he shot a 66 today, just one stroke over his opening-day performance.

That widened his leading edge from one stroke to four at the end of 36 holes, with defending champion Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., moving up into second place in the standings. Ford shot a 66 today for a 135 total.

Bunched at 137 were Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., the pre-tourney favorite; Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., 1951 U. S. Amateur champion; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, and Ted Kroll of Utica, N.Y.

The 1953 winner of the Fort Wayne Open, Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., slipped to a 70 today to stand at 138 at the halfway mark, tied with Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.; Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex., and Eric Monti of Los Angeles, Calif.

The Leaders: Dow Finsterwald, 65-66—131; Doug Ford, 69-66—135; Billy Maxwell, 71-66—137; Gene Littler, 68-69—137; Bob Rosburg, 67-70—137; Ted Kroll, 68-69—137; Marty Furgol, 69-69—138; Doug Higgins, 69-69—138; Eric Monti, 70-68—138; Art Wall Jr., 68-70—138.

George Bayer, 66-73—139; Frank Stranahan, 68-71—139; Julius Boros, 69-70—139; Wally Ulrich, 71-68—139; Fred Hawkins, 69-70—139.

Bud Holscher, 70-70 — 140; Jack Slek, 7169—140; Al Besselink, 71-69—140; Arnold Palmer, 69-72—141; Peter Thomson, 72-69—141; Jerry Kesselring, 67-74—141; L. M. Crannel Jr., 68-73—141; Dick Mayer, 71-70—141.

It's Keeler Time This Weekend Around Atlanta

The Keeler Day golf tournaments, staged each year as a tribute to the late Atlanta Journal sports writer, O. B. Keeler, will be held Saturday and Sunday.

All Atlanta clubs, both private and municipal, are expected to participate. Each club determines its own type of tournament, putting up the prizes and turning the entry fee ($1 per player) over to the O. B. Keeler Golf Fund, which is used for the promotion of junior and publinx golf.

The tournaments are sanctioned by the Atlanta Golf Association, which is composed of all private and several associations at local municipal clubs.

Betty Hicks, Fay Crocker Tie for Top

DETROIT, May 27 (AP) — South American champion Fay Crocker shot a one-under-par 74 to tie Betty Hicks of Palm Springs, Calif., for the halfway lead in the Wolverine Women's Open Golf Tournament today. They had a two-round total of 148.

But it was pretty, blonde Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., who stole the show from her lady friends by setting a competitive course record at the Forest Lake Country Club.

After taking a fat 80 yesterday, Marlene tamed her erratic irons and fired a 35-36—71, four under women's par and one under men's par.

Her 151 total pulled her from next to last place among the professionals to fifth, only four strokes behind the two leaders

Miss Crocker, 14-time Argentine champion from Montevideo, Uruguay, apparently had taken the second-round lead with her second straight 74, parring the last eight holes.

But Miss Hicks, the first-day leader, pulled into a tie with birdies on two of the last three holes, dropping a 10-footer on No. 16 and a 2-footer on N. 18.

Second-round leaders: Betty Hicks, 72-76—148; Faye Crocker, 74-74—148; Mrs. Peggy Kirk Bell, 73-77—150; Betty Dodd, 73-77—150; Marlene Bower, 80-71—151; xWiffi Smith, 76-76—152; Beverly Hanson, 77-76—153; Mary Lena Faulk, 75-78—153; Mrs. Carol Bowman, 78-75—153; Joyce Ziske, 76-77—153; Mrs. Betty Bush, 77-78—155; Betty Jameson, 74-81—155; Mrs. Alice Bauer Hagge, 77-78—155; Bonnie Randolph, 77-79—156; Mickey Wright, 75-83—158; xPat Devany, 78-81—159; Gloria Armstrong, 81-78—159; Marilynn Smith, 78-81—159; Bonnie Colby, 79-83—162.

Williams Is Available, He Hints to State Bar

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writer

AUGUSTA, May 27—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan indicated here Friday that he would like to have the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination if Adlai Stevenson doesn't want it.

Williams said he will support Stevenson if the 1952 Democratic standard-bearer wants the nomination again. But he added he thinks the Democrats have a number of strong potential candidates in Congress and governors' offices.

"Presently I am not a candidate," he said in answer to a query about his own ambitions, "but if the opportunity arises, well, I doubt that there is any American who wouldn't feel highly honored and flattered; I know I would."

WOOING DIXIE?

Another possible indication of Williams' aspirations was the fact that he left a session of the Michigan Legislature to accept an invitation to address the Georgia Bar Assn.—and maybe woo Southern support.

The tall, handsome young governor steered clear of national politics, however, in his speech as he spoke on foreign affairs and the need for an ideological offensive against communism.

But in a press conference preceding his speech he expressed the belief that the Democrats have a "considerable chance" to regain the presidency next year even if President Eisenhower runs for reelection."

"It seems to me," the governor added, "that the administration either doesn't know what it is going to do or has no foreign policy or isn't being fair with the people."

On Democratic Party affairs, Williams said he believes the 1952 "loyalty oath" question has been pretty well settled. Asked if he thought such party bolters as Gov. Shivers of Texas and Gov. Byrnes of South Carolina should be admitted to the 1956 convention, Williams said, "A lot depends on what their attitude is when they come to the convention."

In his foreign policy speech, Williams said, " 'Massive retaliation' or complete dependence on the atomic bomb is not a dependable deterrent to aggressors."

PEACE FORMULA

America must maintain superiority in atomic weapons to escape annihilation, the governor said.

To preserve the peace, Williams said, America must (1) maintain Western military strength to deter aggression; (2) form and maintain strong military and economic alliances, and (3) launch a grand offensive "in the struggle of ideas to carry the ideology of freedom to every part of the earth."

Earlier, John Ben Shepperd, brilliant young Texas attorney general, addressed the Georgia lawyers and made a blistering attack on the U.S. Supreme Court for allegedly ignoring all legal precedent in recent decisions, especially in segregation and tidelands oil cases.

"If the court can so casually ignore all legal precedent," Shepperd said, "later courts can just as casually ignore present decisions and legislation with the effect that the rock-like constitution becomes a lump of clay to be remolded by each generation of court justices, under the pressure of sociologists and politicians."

Judge E. Barrett Prettyman of the U.S. Court of Appeals from the District of Columbia, told the lawyers that the Constitution sometimes needs changing but is a practical document that protects the inherent rights of the people.

Keep Georgia Flag as It Is, UDC Insists

The Atlanta Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is protesting proposed changes in the flag of the State of Georgia.

The UDC Chapter has passed a resolution calling on the Georgia Division's legislative committee to "be on the watch and to oppose any method of legislature . . . for proposed change" in the flag.

The resolution points out the proposal would substitute the Battle Flag of the Confederacy for the red and white stripes that cover three-fourths of the Georgia state flag.

"The Atlanta Chapter believes the Battle Flag of the Confederacy to be a flag of history, the property of each of the States of the Confederacy," the resolution stated. It added that "the chapter is in accordance" with UDC rules to "protect the Confederate flag from misuse."

Tech Instructor Wins Top Prize

Col. John B. Day, lecturer in industrial engineering at the Georgia Institute of Technology, has been selected as winner of the top prize for the best technical paper published during the year.

Prize is awarded by the American Materials Handling Society. Col. Day will receive the award in Cleveland, Ohio, June 11, at a dinner of the society.

A KISS FOR MOST COURTEOUS DRIVER
George Roberts, Eatonton; Jeanine Parris, Canton

GriffinDubs Road Safety Job of All

Promotion of safety on Georgia highways should be "a prime responsibility of every citizen," Gov. Griffin declared in Atlanta Friday.

Griffin, helping kick off a state-wide "Slow Down and Live" campaign sponsored by the Georgia Citizens Council, gave a new title to the 1955 Miss Georgia, Jeanine Parris of Canton.

Miss Parris was dubbed "Miss Traffic Safety." She pledged her support in promotion of intensified enforcement of all traffic laws during the campaign.

John W. Maloff, state coordinator of the campaign, said a nation-wide drive will be staged. The governor told delegates to the kick-off luncheon:

"This campaign is to last 101 days, and if it saves the life of one person it will have served its purpose well."

The governor reminded that the vacation season is at hand and "there will be more motor vehicles on Georgia roads this summer than ever before."

George Roberts of Eatonton was presented with a certificate of merit for being selected "most courteous driver in the state" during March. He received a $100 U. S. savings bond and State Trooper T. P. Cross, who "discovered" Roberts, received a $25 bond.

Three newly appointed members of the Georgia Citizens Council, John W. Collins of Atlanta, John McColl of Cordele, and Earl Edwards of West Point, were introduced at the luncheon.

CITY HALL

Preparation On To Open Pools June 4

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Plans are being pushed for the official opening of city-owned swimming pools at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 4. Parks Mgr. George Simons said life guards are being hired, pools are being placed in readiness and locker room attendants engaged. Last year 451,028, an all-time record number, paid admissions to the pools, but 1955 will be the biggest yet, Simons believes.

Meeting Canceled

A scheduled meeting of the Atlanta Board of Firemasters Monday night has been postponed because of hot weather and scarcity of pressing business. Ald. William T. Knight, board chairman, said a majority of the group agreed to defer the session. The next regular meeting would normally come June 27.

Personnel Shift

City Compt. Earl Landers Friday announced several changes in secretarial personnel because of the resignation of his secretary, Mrs. Louise Ridgeway. Mrs. Lorraine Bowen, who has been secretary to Asst. Compt. Lee Thurmond, will become Landers' secretary, and Mrs. Ann Little, a new employe, will succed Mrs. Bowen. Mrs. Ridgeway quit to devote more time to her home.

Negro School Permit

Permit for construction of a $263,000 new Anderson Park (Negro) elementary school at 2107 Tiger Flowers Drive, NW, was issued Friday. Wiliam R. Wofford, building inspector, said J. J. Black & Co. will be contractor.

Dilbecks Return

Veteran Board of Education member J. Austin Dilbeck is back in Atlanta after a six-weeks' tour of Europe. Mrs. Dilbeck accompanied him. The couple visited England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and Holland, driving more than 5,000 miles by automobile in addition to using train, bus and other transportation. Dilbeck said they had a fine time, but were glad to get home again.

Sick Care Now Is So Fine Nobody Can Afford It?

Medical and scientific advances have brought on a level of care in hospitals that almost "outstrips" the patients ability to pay for it, a Veterans' Administration medical official said here Friday.

Dr. William O. Duncan, regional director of medical administration for the VA, said this represents one of the biggest problems in hospital administration today.

He made his comments during a speech before the joint chapters of the American Society of Public Administration and the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada.

Dr. Duncan said hospital costs have continued to rise by the use of professionally trained personnel to administer new medicines and techniques and through the substitution of expensive equipment for personnel.

Hospital administrators are trying to find a way to use the medical advances and increase the level of patient care without the corresponding cost increases that usually accompany them, he explained.

Hospitals cannot afford to increase their prices much more because the "level of care being offered now has almost outstripped the patient's ability to pay," Dr. Duncan declared.

Visiting Judges Set For Superior Court

Two visiting judges will be brought into Fulton Superior Court next month to fill in during the illness of Judge Walter C. Hendrix, Chief Deputy Clerk C. M. Pascal said Friday.

Paschal said the visiting judges would serve in the second criminal division of Superior Court where Judge Hendrix had been scheduled to preside prior to his illness.

The visiting jurists will be Judge W. A. Foster Jr. of the Tallapoosa Circuit and Judge Mack Hicks of the Floyd Circuit. Judge Foster will serve during the week beginning May 30, while Judge Hicks will serve during the weeks beginning June 6 and 13, Paschal said.

A third judge may be invited to serve during the week beginning June 20, he added.

Rail Gates At McCall's Promised

Automatically operated safety gates will be installed at McCall's crossing of the Central of Georgia Railway, J. D. Wallis, superintendent of terminals, advised Ald. John A. White Friday.

Wallis wrote White that high officials of the road have agreed to the installations to make the crossing at Lee street and Murphy avenue, SW, safer and added the facility will be completed as soon as materials can be obtained.

White had pressed for passage of an ordinance limiting speed of trains to five miles an hour at the crossing, but Wallis contended a speed that low would paralyze train movements, and block crossings too long.

The traffic and transportation commission had passed adversely on White's five-mile limit after Wallis said he would recommend the crossing gates.

Doubtful of Rituals? Read New Testament

Rev. Kenneth G., 29, is a talented clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, I am puzzled," he began our chat while I was addressing the International Disciples of Christ convention at Miami a few months ago.

"One branch of the Christian Church has run an advertisement in the Miami Herald today washing its hands of any connection with us.

"And it cites as its reasons, the fact that we baptize by sprinkling as well as immersion.

"It also abhors our having church suppers, etc. It seems odd to me that at this late date in Christian development, churches still will make a serious issue over trivial differences in ritual.

"Do you think Jesus would approve of such attempts to emphasize the minor differences between his various Christian sects?"

JESUS THOUGHT BIG

Jesus was not a sissified personality who quibbled over dust on the altar or excessive ritual.

When he was criticized because his disciples ate without previously washing their hands, he tartly replied:

"Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man."

And when he was again challenged because they plucked some wheat on the Sabbath and threshed it between their palms to eat, Jesus knocked the entire main prop from under the ritualized religion of his day by adding:

"The Sabbath was made for man; not man for the Sabbath."

Then he climaxed his indictment of the cluttering ritual of churches with this sentence, which would jolt picayune members of all modern churches:

"But in vain they do worship me," Jesus said, "teaching for doctrines the commandments of men."

READ YOUR BIBLE

Most of the ritual of the churches has been added by men who lived during the 19 centuries since Christ was crucified.

Some of them were pompous theologians whose egotism led them to try to place the stamp of their own personalities upon religious doctrines.

In case of any doubt, always go back to the New Testament and read what Jesus actually said. You should be delighted at his emphasis on purely major issues like the Golden Rule, abolishing prejudice, etc.

He did not stoop to quibbling over forms of baptism or types of food that were approved or disapproved on the church menu.

He didn't say whether women should wear hats or omit them in church or forego lipstick and rouge.

PETTY TABOOS

Intervening clergymen, sometimes with almost a misanthrope attitude toward human relations, injected those petty taboos about dress and food and other minor items of ritual.

Jesus was a fundamentalist in that he stressed basic moral concepts. He enjoyed wholesome fun and gatherings at the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus.

Although some churches still veto dinners, Jesus started the first church picnic when he fed the 5,000 after his open air sermon.

Jesus also initiated the Easter sunrise breakfast when he called the fishermen to shore and had a broiled fish breakfast awaiting them.

Jesus believed in advertising, too, which is why he sent the 70 ahead of him, two by two to recruit the crowds.

Jesus was the greatest Applied Psychologist of all time, so he was not distracted by picayune details.

Followers of Christ must think big and act big! Read the Bible for further proof.

Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE VAN DELLEN

F. G. writes: Could allergy cause spastic constipation?

Yes, but it might be difficult to prove. There are various causes of spastic bowel, which are described in our leaflet on the subject. It can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

Mrs. T. writes: If a Caesarean is to be done, does the woman have to wait until she is in labor?

No. Caesarean sections usually are scheduled a week or two before the baby is due. Labor complicates matters because it increases the chances of infection.

R. L. writes: Kindly tell me about the steak diet.

Steak is high in proteins and contains fewer calories than certain fatty and starch foods. In this respect, it is useful in weight reduction. Proteins are absorbed more slowly than carbohydrates and supply energy over a longer period of time. This prevents weakness, one of the objectionable features of a low caloric diet.

D. S. writes: Is bronchitis caused by a germ?

It usually is, although irritation from tobacco, gas, or dust may be responsible. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

J. Y. writes: Do surgeons always remove the appendix when an abdominal operation is being done for any reason, even if appendicitis is not present?

Yes, provided this additional surgery does not endanger the life of the patient. Removal of a normal appendix is not difficult and most surgeons believe it ought to be done when the abdomen is opened anyway, to avoid a second operation later, in case appendicitis develops.

L. D. writes: Will diet of any kind affect the growth of polyps in the stomach?

Diet is not much of a factor in this condition although the ulcer type diet will reduce irritation.

H. L. writes: Does a person lose weight in all types of cancer?

Ultimately; yes, if the lesion is untreated.

Ike Will Spend Holiday at Farm

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — President Eisenhower left for his country home at Gettysburg, Pa., today to spend the Memorial Day weekend.

He was accompanied on the 85-mile drive by an old friend, George E. Allen, who was a Truman administration official.

Waiting at the Gettysburg farm were Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver. They left Washington yesterday.

The President plans to return to the White House Monday evening or Tuesday morning

Boy 'Fair' After Snake Bite

A seven-year-old Alpharetta boy who was bitten by a snake was in "fair" condition at Grady Hospital Friday.

Quick action by an Alpharetta physician, Roswell's police chief, and Grady doctors probably saved the child's life, observers said.

Charles Tommy Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dorsey Armstrong Sr., Route 3, Alpharetta, was looking for fishing worms Thursday with an older brother. He lifted a rock and a snake, believed to be a copperhead moccasin, bit the boy's arm.

An Alpharetta physician drained some of the venom, applied a tourniquet, and advised the boy's father to take the child to Grady. Roswell's police chief transferred the two to his patrol car for last lap of the trip to the hospital.

"Doctors at Grady said we got him there just in time," Tommy's dad reported.

IN OUR CHURCHES: School-Age Methodists Get New Gym

By LAURA BARRE

Some 200 high school and college-age members of Druid Hills Methodist Church will hold a dedication service for their new $53,000 church gymnasium at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 8.

Since the Methodist Discipline, which contains an order of service for dedication of several types of buildings, has no order for dedication of a gym, Miss Jane Seward, director of religious education at the church, and other members of the staff are writing a service.

The Rev. Rembert Sisson, church pastor, and Miss Seward will lead the dedications.

After the service the young people and their adult advisers will have a party to "initiate" the building.

The two-story brick structure began as a double garage behind the parsonage, located next door to the church on Ponce de Leon avenue, NE. The garage has been remodeled and added to and now contains a regulation basketball court and facilities for badminton, volleyball and shuffleboard.

Also included are two Scout rooms, where Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops will meet, a kitchen and an apartment for the church's youth counselor.

The Rev. Loren Young will move into the apartment July 1, when he and his bride return from their honeymoon. He will be married June 11 to Rosalie Brookshaw of Atlanta. The Rev. Mr. Young is a student in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University.

First-Graders Learn of Vitamins And How Fat the Sink Should Be

By JEANNE HIGGINS

It's all in the children's minds at Morris Brandon School—about what they should eat and drink. And their three R's are none the worse because of it.

Mrs. Lillie Thompson is the mother of two at home and the teacher of 39 first-graders at Brandon school. After Christmas the first-graders began having lunch at the school cafeteria. And despite the fact that the dietician, Mrs. Frances L. Hines, turns out what mamas think to be superb school meals, there were many little ones who wanted no part of the unfamiliar flavors.

Thus, the birth of a new first-grade study—Vitamin Time.

The result? At the end of the school year an average of 36 report a cleaned-up plate after lunch every day.

One child refused to let his mother pour any liquid off the canned vegetables. Another was startled at carrots being skinned for dinner.

"Why Mother, all the vitamins are there," he cried.

When the food study began early in January, each child and his parents kept a record of what he ate for three days. The children were weakest in vegetables. Every day since, they have spent part of each day in studying foods.

The carrot committee started the ball rolling. Each of the four of them brought in carrots which were washed and cut up for tasting by each student. The food value was searched out via books and entered on a chart.

EAGER NUTRITIONISTS

The eager, young nutritionists have drawn pictures about food, written letters and stories and paraphrased songs. As a sort of "thesis" they planned one day's menu for Brandon's 1,000 students, which was carried out to the letter by the cafeteria.

And to show off their handiwork, which is something to brag about, they chose Friday as parents' day. Vegetable corsages were pinned on each mother, and everyone was served vegetable salad made by the children.

Besides vegetables the class studied milk and meat. And, according to mothers and daddies, it is easy to see the effect. The children are interested in trying any dish that is well prepared. And they can tell you what they are eating right on down to the number of units of vitamin A in that serving of spinach.

PART OF CURRICULUM

A study of food in some way is part of every year's first grade curriculum in Mrs. Thompson's room and has been for several years. And Mrs. Henrietta Kilpatrick is one of the many mothers who is glad of it.

She said: "Find a parent who has not had her share of problems regarding food dislikes in small fry and you find the unusual."

The prize reaction came from one of the 7-year-olds after Mrs. Thompson had explained that many vitamins flow down the drain instead of onto plates because of poor preparation.

"The kitchen sink is often better fed than the family," she said.

The child remarked, "Mother, if I were that sink, I would be so fat I couldn't walk."

Highlands Season Opens This Weekend

Numerous Atlantans are heading for Highlands, N.C., this weekend for the opening of the Highlands Country Club and to see the laurel, rhododendron and azaleas which will be at the height of bloom for the next few weeks.

A congenial group, who are all members of the same dancing class, left Thursday to be guests until Sunday at the Highlands Club. The party includes Mr. and Mrs. Perry Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Jiroud Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Harris, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dodd and Mr. and Mrs. Alton M. Costley.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Herndon Brown formed a foursome leaving Friday to spend the weekend at the club.

Others enjoying the coolness of the mountain resort are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Georg, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McMillian, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dowdell and James Vance.

NEWLYWED MR. AND MRS. THOMAS W. TIFT JR. will be honor guests when Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Taulman and their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Taulman, entertain at an alfresco party Sunday at 6 o'clock at the W. D. Taulman home on Club drive.

Guests will include the members of Mr. and Mrs. Tift's wedding personnel and their families. Mrs. Tift is the former Clair Hardwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hardwick.

MRS. BURNEY S. DOBBS has arrived from Athens for a visit to her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dobbs on Colland drive.

ROBERT S. ROGERS of the Atlanta Art Institute staff received a grand surprise last night at the institute commencement when Walter C. Hill, chairman of the board of the Atlanta Art Assn., presented him a gift in celebration of his 25th anniversary with the school.

Friends and students of Mr. Rogers contributed to the gift, a check, which was presented with letters of praise and a booklet containing the names of the donors. Mr. Rogers became associated with the institute when it was known as the High Museum of Art, and has been on the staff longer than any other person except Ben Shute, the director.

MISS SHIRLEY HADDOCK and Miss Mary Elizabeth Burdette of the Westminster Schools faculty and Miss Ruth McMichael of Macon will fly to New York on June 17 to sail the next day on the Independence for two months of study and travel in Europe.

Landing at Naples, they will spend several weeks in Rome and Capri before driving to Paris to spend the remainder of the time studying music and French at the Sorbonne. The trio will sail for home from Cannes late in August.

MISS LOUISE HARGROVE leaves Saturday for New York, and on Tuesday she will board a plane for Brussels, Belgium, where she will visit her cousin, Miss Marie McNeill, who is attached to the American embassy there.

Later Miss Hargrove will tour the Continent for several weeks, returning to the States on the Liberte July 8.

MISS VIRGINIA MACKEY left Wednesday to be the guest of Miss Margaret Bell in New York. The duo will sail Saturday on the Ocean Monarch for a cruise to Bermuda and Nassau.

A PAIR OF FT. McPHERSON BRIDES-ELECT, Misses Dixianne Hamersley and Peggy McNaul, are being extensively entertained. Miss Hamersley, daughter of Col. and Mrs. D. T. Hamersley, will wed Robert R. Nunamaker of Atlanta on June 12 at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Miss McNaul, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. H. McNaul, will marry Robert H. Conley at the Ft. McPherson Chapel June 27.

Mrs. Roderick Wetherill and Mrs. D. E. Cowan will give a linen shower for Miss Hamersley at the Officers' Club on Saturday, and on June 3 Miss McNaul will be hostess at a crystal and china shower in her honor. On June 11, Mrs. R. O. Nunamaker, mother of Mr. Nunamaker, will entertain at the rehearsal dinner at the Officers' Club.

On June 26, Col. and Mrs. McNaul will be hosts at a rehearsal dinner for their daughter and Mr. Conley at the Officers Club.

COL. AND MRS. LOUIS J. HARANT left Wednesday for Miami Beach to attend the graduation of their daughter, Mary Isabel, from Barry College for Women. Following her graduation, Miss Harant will go to New York and Boston, returning to Atlanta late in June.

Work With Girls Club Catching, Leader Says

By MARY DENMARK

To Mrs. Eloise McGinnis, work with Girls Clubs is like a drug. The longer you stay with it, the more you want to do.

After 20 years of working with clubs from Indiana to Massachusetts, she radiated enthusiasm as she described her work and the results of Girls Club work, and she eagerly anticipated meeting and talking with members at the Atlanta Girls Club.

VISITS GIRLS' CLUB
Mrs. Eloise McGinnis

National field secretary of Girls Clubs of America, Mrs. McGinnis arrived Wednesday for a four-day visit with the Atlanta club.

OBSERVING

During her stay here, Mrs. McGinnis is meeting Girls Club workers, led by Miss Louise Massey, executive director. She's also observing the local club setup in order that she can relate the work here to that of other clubs throughout the country.

"I'm here to encourage and to make suggestions, and I assure you I take no supercritical attitude at all. I'd much rather talk about the good things."

Mrs. McGinnis' career in Girls Club work began about 20 years ago following the death of her husband. A former teacher, she was asked by city officials in Columbus, Ind., to organize a club for girls there.

From Columbus, she went to Boston and organized two clubs there, one of which grew to a membership of 2,000 girls.

Later, in Jamestown, N.Y., she saw the club there expand from a two-room upstairs clubhouse to a converted four-story mansion, filled with new furniture.

"I always point out to people who plan to work with girls that the lovelier you have a place, the better you get along with the girls," she remarked.

"All girls love and respond to beauty."

Has Girls Club really made a difference in the lives of the girls, Mrs. McGinnis was asked.

Her reply was emphatic.

"Decidedly! Of course, the work we do is so intangible while we're doing it that we often wonder how it's going.

"But now, after 20 years, I've seen girls win scholarships, become nurses, and take over Girls Clubs of their own. No matter what their economic status may be, the clubs help give the girls a chance to pull themselves up and make more of themselves.

SKILLS, LEADERSHIP

"Girls Clubs are most anxious to serve the less privileged girls, but they offer to any girl a chance for self-improvement and for developing skills and leadership.

"There's more leisure time for almost everyone these days — time in which the girls might possibly get into trouble. With a Girls Club accessible the girls can find something worthwhile to do in their free time."

The Atlanta club, Mrs. McGinnis said, was the first in Georgia to affiliate with the national organization. The club in Columbus, voted into the organization last week, boosts the total to two for the state.

"Girls Clubs must involve the people of the community," Mrs. McGinnis concluded.

"The club here belongs to the people of Atlanta. If they just once step across the threshold, they fall into the spirit of the club. And they'll never regret taking that step."

TEEN-AGER BOASTS VARIETY OF AUTOGRAPHS OF CELEBRITIES
Joanne Ragsdale Surrounded by Collection; Baseball Mitt, Cap Represent First Love

Girl Ballplayer Snags Autographs, Pictures

By BETTY CARROLLTON

A few summers ago the scene at the vacant lot in Hapeville was the same as nearly everywhere else in America: Sandlot baseball.

Except for one thing.

True, the neighborhood boys manned their regular posts at the pitcher's mound, behind home plate and in the outfield.

But assuming an almost professional stance at first base was a GIRL.

Her uniform was complete, even to cleated shoes. Shoulder-length curly brown hair was pulled behind her ears. A baseball cap protected the excitement-filled blue eyes from the hot glare of the sun.

LIVING IT UP

Tall for her age, 12-year-old Joanne Ragsdale was living it up in the way she liked best.

Since she was six years old and was allowed to fill in for an absent boy in a neighborhood game, Joanne's heart has belonged to the diamond — the baseball diamond. She longed to play Little League ball and mourned the trick of fate that had tagged her a girl.

She turned to the next best thing: publishing the "Little League News," a weekly newspaper.

Her newspaper work won national recognition in a picture magazine and she started receiving letters from fans throughout America and other countries. Her letter-to-the-editor published in full in a national magazine brought another deluge of fan mail.

SAW CRACKERS

In 1950 she saw her first Atlanta Crackers baseball game and received an autographed ball that proved a turning point in her baseball love-life.

She started collecting autographed baseballs and inscribed photos of her favorite players.

A doctor in Ohio sent her what is still the most cherished item in her collection: a baseball autographed by Babe Ruth. The doctor's accompanying letter explained: "I've cherished this ball and now am willing to part with it to someone who will value it as highly as I have."

Now 16, Joanne has put aside her baseball togs in favor of crinolines and full skirts. And she's branched out in her hobby of collecting baseball autographs to covering celebrities in nearly every field. Her collection has made her the envy of autograph hounds throughout the country. Her autographs range from baseball players and movie stars to writers and political figures.

She's a familiar sight at the Atlanta Airport, where she is on hand to greet—and to "sign up"—nearly every celebrity who visits Atlanta. She has made friends among many of the airport personnel, who tip her off when a celebrity is due to arrive.

Being photographed with such famous people as Richard Todd and Jean Peters (she visited the "A Man Called Peter" set at Agnes Scott) are proud memories for Joanne. She's never been disappointed by any of the stars she's met and has often been pleasantly surprised when they sent her autographed pictures promised during hectic moments at the airport.

She cherished a recent post card from Vaughn Monroe, telling her an autographed picture he promised would soon be put in the mail to her. She remembers fondly her two visits with singer Johnny Ray, and her meeting with singer Julius La Rosa at the airport. ("He was very patient—and SO good-looking!")

Joanne said her biggest surprise came when Roy Cohn, who figured prominently in the McCarthy-Army hearings, answered her request for an autographed picture.

SENATORS

Joanne also has autographed pictures of Sen. McCarthy, Sen. Russell, J. Edgar Hoover, Grantland Rice and Herman Talmadge.

She has 30 baseballs autographed by members of the outstanding teams and they are still the high point in the collection.

Her most cherished photo is one of screen actor Rock Hudson.

"I guess I'm more proud of that than anything else," she explained, "because he's my favorite actor."

Joanne admits that she has often tasted disappointment during her airport vigils.

"I guess the biggest disappointment was waiting for Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis to show up," she said. "I waited at the airport until 2 a.m.—and they never did arrive."

She had been given a foul tip. They weren't even coming to Atlanta.

Mrs. Perdue Installed by Manuscript Club

Mrs. Garland Perdue was installed as president of the Manuscript Club at the 18th annual banquet Friday evening at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Other officers are:

Club Women Refuse Rap at Salk Furor

By EMMA HARRISON

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

PHILADELPHIA, May 27—The General Federation of Women's Clubs refused today to pass a resolution "deploring premature announcement of medical discoveries," for fear it might imply an unintended criticism of the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Members sent the resolution back to committee for reconsideration on this final day of the annual convention, following a long discussion in which many women from all over the country declared they wanted to express no criticism of the vaccine or the medical profession, even by implication.

The action, whicn meant that the resolution would not be brought up again at this session, culminated a week's speculation on what, if any action, the women would take. In a press conference early this week, Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the federation, said she felt there might have been more research on the vaccine situation before its announcement to the public.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis representatives were here to present a program of information to delegates on the vaccine earlier this week. Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie, Athens, Ga., chairman of the policy committee, who helped prepare the resolution and released it to the convention yesterday, said it was the result of many hours of consideration by the committee.

Mrs. Harold V. Milligan, chairman of the health division and one of those presenting the resolution, declared that no criticism of the vaccine had been intended. She told the convention she wanted personally to pay tribute to Dr. Jonas Salk and the National Foundation for the contribution. She said the resolution, which cited the creation of the vaccine as one of "inestimable value," simply sought to safeguard the future.

The resolution demanded that "research scientists, manufacturers, distributors and the governmental agencies concerned, work together untiringly to exercise every possible means to assure a safe, effective plan of use of medical discoveries."

SWP HOUSE PAINT
lasts longer...saves money

- It pays to be "choosy" when you select house paint. Whether you employ a painting contractor or not, the price difference between famous SWP House Paint and ordinary house paint means less than $5.00 for the average house job. This slight difference pays for years of extra wear . . . one of the wisest economies you can make!
- Continuous research has insured constant improvement and top-quality performance of SWP. You'll be money ahead when you discover there is a difference in house paints!

Handicaps Hit 1 in 10 Ga. Youths

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

An estimated 10 per cent of the children and young people under 21 years in Georgia are suffering from some handicap, Dr. Samuel M. Wishik, a pediatrician and public health specialist, said here Friday.

Cosmetic, or facial, deformities head the list of handicaps, with mental illness following a close second, the physician said.

Dr. Wishik, who is professor of maternal and child health at the University of Pittsburgh, disclosed the extent of handicaps among young Georgians in a report to leading health and education workers and civic leaders at the Capital City Club.

SURVEY TOLD NUMBER

He reported on the outcome of a statewide survey which has been conducted for the last two years under the sponsorship of the Cerebral Palsy Society and the Crippled Children's Society of Georgia. The survey to determine the number of handicaps was centered in Clarke and Oconee counties and a check to determine the number of facilities available for treatment of crippling maladies was conducted in 13 counties, according to Dr. Wishik, who headed it.

"One of the important things we found in the survey is that these handicaps know no economic barriers," Dr. Wishik said. "They are not exclusive to the children of the poor but come to the rich and poor alike."

COUNSEL BIG NEED

Dr. Wishik said the greatest gap in service was not medical but in counselling, and he strongly advised that Georgians work out a plan providing counselling service for families distraught by the presence of handicaps. He also recommended the establishment of at least two "rehabilitation centers," one in connection with the Emory Medical School and one at the University of Georgia Medical School in Augusta.

The citizens' group, headed by Mills B. Jane Jr., chairman of the board of the Cerebral Palsy Society, voted to refer Dr. Wishik's report and recommendations to a special committee for study.

Handicaps listed included—in addition to cosmetic deformity and mental retardation — personality disturbances, eye, speech and hearing deficiencies, orthodontic and orthopedic defects, heart trouble, cerebral palsy, epilepsy and cleft palates.

Macon Artist Wins Award In U.S. Test

PHILADELPHIA, May 27 — A Georgia artist is one of three winners in the art talent scholarships contest conducted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Jean Dozier Knott of Macon, along with Marilyn Whipple, Gales Ferry, Conn., and Carolyn Burns, Webster Groves, Mo., was announced as a winner at the Awards Luncheon during the annual convention of the federation.

Mrs. Robert H. Dole, Bristol, N.H., chairman of the art division of the fine arts department, presented the awards. Each of the prize winners will receive $400 for art education.

Miss Knott's painting, "Unto the Least of These," was one of 36 entries from all parts of the country. The paintings were judged by art experts in Philadelphia.

The contest was carrid out by the federation art chairmen in each state. Mrs. Lamar Hailey, Hartwell, Ga., is fine arts chairman of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. Theme of the contest was "My Responsibility to Others."

Day for Shut-Ins

Mayor Hartsfield Friday proclaimed June 5 as Shut-Ins day in Atlanta and called on all citizens, neighbors and friends of shut-ins to remember shut-ins in "acts of kindness by visitation, cards, flowers or small gifts, and to continue such activities throughout the year."

YOUR STARS TODAY

DAILY GUIDE—The lucky ones who are on holiday can enjoy the prospects of doing nothing today, but in order to enjoy idleness to the fullest, one should really take a holiday from worry. It isn't any fun to be idle if there is a nagging in back of one's mind of all the things left undone.

Even if you have to work, let this day be a lull in your activities. Work without pressure if possible, call off existing tensions for a few hours.

Tomorrow is much livelier, so rest today. Remember that this week has been one in which ideas, expressed either in speech or writing, has been important, so plan to make use of ideas tomorrow, get around and talk to people.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, GEMINI! You like to keep busy, so this should be a much happier period for you and a productive one. Keep going through the next few weeks, taking care of financial matters, putting ideas to work. During the summer your prospects begin to look up, giving you a happier mental outlook.

New people, new ideas, and an expansive mentality should be very stimulating in the early fall. Make your base of operations and domestic surroundings more attractive at the end of the year, and prepare to be more stable in your relationships with other people next year.

Stocks Dip, Rally; Aircrafts Higher

Market Mixed at Closing; Alleghany Features Trade

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The stock market went through a lot of irregularity today and closed mixed.

The situation was ascribed to the three-day weekend for the Memorial Day recess Monday when all security and financial markets will be closed.

Prices were higher at the opening, then they sold off a bit, and finally at the close there was a good recovery by aircrafts that helped the entire market improve. Prices at the finish were up around 3 points at the outside, with the exception of one or two wide movers, and losses extended to around 2 points.

Aircrafts were definitely ahead, but most other major divisions were mixed to lower.

AP AVERAGE OFF

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 10 cents at $164.90. The mixed nature of the market was shown by the fact that the industrial component was ahead 40 cents while railroads were down 50 cents, and utilities remained unchanged.

Volume was good at 2,220,000 shares, only 40,000 less than yesterday when the market was higher.

The market this week advanced three days out of five and posted a net gain on the week.

Aircrafts were higher as the Air Force ordered a production speedup in the Boeing B52 jet bomber. Boeing opened today on a block of 20,000 shares at 69½ and closed up 3⅛ at 68⅝. It was the most active issue on 64,800 shares.

DOMINATE BUYING

Seven of the 15 most active issues were aircrafts. Boeing was followed by Crown Cork up 1¾ at 19⅜, Alleghany Corp. unchanged at 8⅞, Electric & Musical Industries unchanged at 4½, and Curtiss-Wright off ⅛ at 21¾.

Alleghany Corp. was a trading feature with the common stock unchanged, the preferred was up 10½ at 277½, and the prior preferred gained 6¼ at 145. The Interstate Commerce Commission gave permission for issuance of a new preferred stock, and the company was reimbursed for the money spent in the New York Central proxy fight.

Among stocks advancing were Detroit Steel up 1⅛ (after a stock dividend), General Motors ⅝, United Aircraft 1¼, Lockheed ½, North American 1⅛, and United Air Lines ½.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—he cotton textile market was slow Friday. Buyer activity was limited, anticipating the extended weekend holiday. Small spot sales of print cloths, broadcloths and drills were noted.

The situation in wool goods was slow. In rayon goods, some quarters reported slightly higher prices on some of the filament goods, such as acetate taffetas. Supplies of rayon linings were reported tightening up in gray form, in part reflecting effects of the New England strike.

Wheat Sags, Clipping All

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP) — Grains wound up a dull week with small losses on the Board of Trade today. The market was steady until around midday. At that time wheat started to sag. In the last hour the rest of the list also went down.

Wheat closed ⅞-1¼ lower, corn ⅝ to 1 cent lower, oats ⅛-⅝ lower, rye ½ lower to ½ higher, soybeans ¼ to 1 cent lower and lard 12 to 23 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Freedom Fight Lost By Delinski

W. R. Delinski, convicted kidnaper and robber, finally lost his long fight to avoid serving the remainder of a 21-to-28-year Georgia prison sentence.

McDuffie County Ordinary J. D. Baston, who four times has freed Delinski on habeas corpus writs, signed an order which in effect wiped out his previous action.

Delinski, convicted in 1933 of kidnaping and robbing the late Atlanta banker, John K. Ottley, has been free from custody of Georgia since Baston first granted him a writ in August, 1949.

The case has gone to the Georgia Supreme Court four times and each time the McDuffie ordinary has been overruled.

Delinski has been in Florida most of the time since his release. He is now serving a four-year term for robbery in that state. Asst. Atty. Gen. J. R. Parham said that he will seek to have Delinski returned to Georgia immediately.

The state attempted previously to extradite Delinski but then acting Florida Gov. Charlie Johns denied the petition.

Public Works Group Elects Atlanta's Ball

ALBANY, May 27 (AP)—Georgia public works officials Friday installed new officers and heard a warning against raising taxes.

John Ball of Atlanta was made president to succeed Douglas T. Grider of Columbus. L. N. (Red) Hall of Albany was chosen vice president. Grady Young, Atlanta, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The caution against raising taxes was voiced by Albany Mayor J. W. (Taxi) Smith, who noted that more and more demands for services are being made by citizens.

It is fine to try to meet these demands, the speaker said, but it must be remembered that state and local tax levies already have pressed to "unprecedented levels."

"Perhaps," observed the mayor, "it is about all the average man can expect today—getting a home, paved streets and a chance to raise his family. I am glad that under our democratic form of government we can enjoy this. Taxes take all the rest."

The public works officials are organized into a Georgia chapter of the American Public Works Association.

Peach Tree Research Yields 2 $300 Each

By LAURA BARRE

Experiments which resulted in $50-per-acre savings for Georgia peach growers won two researchers of the Georgia Experiment Station $300 each here Friday.

The research, conducted by E. F. Savage and F. F. Cowart established that peach trees two or three feet high are as good as, or better than, trees four to five feet high for stocking orchards.

The commercial grower should save as much as $50 an acre on planting by using the smaller trees, they estimated.

FETED AT LUNCHEON

The awards were presented by the Sears, Roebuck Foundation at an awards luncheon held at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Charles H. Kellstadt, vice president of Sears, Roebuck Co., presented the awards, which included the cash and gold-inscribed keys.

On the basis of tests they had conducted over the last 12 years, the researchers determined that the smaller peach trees usually are cheaper, easier to transplant and easier to train into desirable shapes than the larger trees.

The two men demonstrated that after five years there is very little difference in the size of peach trees for yield of fruit regardless of whether or not two-foot trees or five-foot trees were planted.

BRIEFS OTHER PROJECTS

George H. King, associate director of the University of Georgia Experiment Stations, Athens, described four other projects which competed for the prize. The projects were judged by three out-of-state experiment station directors.

A study on "A Formula Basis for Pricing Fluid Milk in Georgia" by J. C. Purcell, J. C. Elrod and N. M. Penny, economists at the Experiment Station, was considered, and is now being used by the Georgia Milk Control Board.

"The 40-page report resulting from the study should be of much value to the Georgia Dairy Industry in the future," King said.

ANOTHER STUDY

Another study was conducted by B. B. Higgins and W. K. Bailey, also of the station at Experiment. Entitled "New Varieties and Selected Strains of Peanuts," the study reported on yielding abilities of seven new varieties of peanuts, representing the three principal market types—Spanish, Southeastern Runner and Virginia.

A report on "Equipment for Proportioning, Mixing and Grinding Feed" by Harold D. White of the University of Georgia's Experiment Station at Athens showed that feed represents about 50 per cent of the cost of producing dairy cattle and 75 to 80 per cent for beef cattle, hogs and poultry.

REPORT ON GRAZING

The fifth report considered for the top award was prepared by M. E. McCullough, O. E. Sell and W. E. Neville Jr. of Experiment. The three men conducted a test on "The Relationship Between Grazing Behavior of Dairy Cows, Forage Digestibility and Intake and Milk Production."

Other speakers at Friday's luncheon meeting were Dr. Harmon Caldwell, chancellor of the University System of Georgia, and Dr. C. C. Murray, dean of the University of Georgia College of Agriculture.

Both expressed appreciation to the Sears Foundation for sponsoring the contest and to the researchers for "the great progress they are helping to bring about in Georgia's agriculture."

J. C. Haynes, director of public relations for Sears-Roebuck, presided at the luncheon, which was attended by some 25 representatives of experiment stations, the University of Georgia and Sears-Roebuck.

Savage and Cowart reported that more than 2,000,000 peach trees were planted in Georgia this year and that the demand for trees was more than twice as great as the supply.

"Georgia is getting back into the peach industry, especially the section of the state located near the Fort Valley "peach belt" area, and the use of smaller trees should become especially popular now," they said.

Farm Mart Not Taxable, Cook Rules

Atty Gen. Eugene Cook said Friday the Georgia Agriculture Department is not liable for an assessment by the City of Augusta for paving a street by the farmers market there.

In a lengthy opinion to Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell, Cook said that such special assessments are not taxes within the general meaning of the term. The state Constitution exempts public property from taxation.

The attorney general, however, cited extensively from court decisions and said the general rule is that public property is not subject to special assessments unless specifically made so by law.

He pointed out that the Augusta City Charter gives the county the authority to sign as a property owner for various improvements where county property is involved but does not in-the judge "stopped the clock" . . . the trucks kept rolling

THE men at his bottling plant called him a "One Man Dynamo". He was. He had started with little money, a soft drink franchise, and lots of energy. And he built it into a good business. His men liked him, respected him. He could do every job, and he sometimes did. But, his spirit was stronger than his heart.

The morning he died everything he had created swayed in the balance, for all final decisions had been his decisions, and there was no chain of command. His widow was faced with this problem: If daily soft drink deliveries stopped . . . the franchise might be lost, and she might be left without a steady income. Something had to be done.

The family's C&S Trust Officer was called. By late afternoon he had consulted the Judge, who held court open until the will could be probated. The Trust Officer then called one of the Directors of the bank, who, being in the same industry, knew of a competent manager. Reached by long-distance telephone, this man was persuaded to accept the job. A short while later the new manager arrived and took charge. The plant and its trucks never stopped running.

Such emergency action is typical of the kind of service your wife can depend upon, should the need ever arise. Before you appoint an Executor, investigate the extra services the C&S Bank's Trust Department can provide.

Wednesday Strike Looms In Ford Workers' Alert

By DAMON STETSON

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

DETROIT, May 27—The auto workers union began preparations today for a possible strike against the Ford Motor Co. on Wednesday.

The National Ford negotiating committee of the United Automobile Workers, CIO, notified the 51 Ford local unions that a package offer yesterday by the company had been unanimously rejected. Each local was told to prepare for possible strike action when the current contract with Ford terminates at midnight Tuesday.

At the same time, the union called an emergency meeting of the National Ford Council, made up of delegates from local unions, to meet here tomorrow and discuss the status of negotiations.

Meanwhile, bargaining talks continued in an effort to resolve conflicts that came into the open yesterday with the union's abrupt rejection of Ford's comprehensive package proposal. There will be a recess of the Ford negotiations tomorrow with talks scheduled to be resumed on Sunday.

The broad proposal included a stock purchasing plan with the company paying for half the cost and workers the other half; an employes' income stabilization plan to benefit laid off workers, separation pay, improved insurance and pension beenfits, and automatic annual pay increases of five cents or 2½ per cent, whichever was greater.

The package offered the company's 140,000 hourly workers would cost Ford an estimated $95,000,000 to $110,000,000 for each year of the proposed five-year contract, according to unofficial company sources.

The union said the offer was merely "a watered-down version of an inadequate proposal made by General Motors." The latter company has made an offer to the union also but has declined so far to disclose details.

Oat Baling Machine Crushes Gordon Boy

GORDON, May 27 (AP)—Dennis E. Allen, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Allen of Rte. 1, Gordon, was crushed to death Friday when his arm was caught in a machine in a field near here.

The youngster was helping his father bale oats when his arm became entangled in the machinery of the baler. He was dragged into the machine, and suffered a crushed arm and chest.

Funeral services will be held Sunday.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

State Bar Wants Voice in High Court Choices

The Georgia Bar Assn. recommended Friday a drastic change in the section of jurists to serve on the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of this state.

Under a resolution adopted by the GBA convention at Augusta the courts and the lawyers themselves would have a voice through a judicial commission in the appointments to the appellate court benches.

The GBA proposal calls for creation of a Georgia Judicial Commission, composed of seven members. Five lawyer members would be appointed by the Supreme Court. The other two members would be named by the governor and would not have to be lawyers.

When a vacancy occurred on the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals, the commission would submit the names of not less than two and not more than three nominees to the governor to fill the vacancy. The governor would have to make the appointment from the commission's list of nominees.

The plan, which apparently would require a constitutional amendment, also would extend the terms of the appellate court jurists to eight years.

Under existing law, the governor has complete freedom of choice in making appointments to the high court.
